

THE

WEB

7237

VOL. I

OCTOBER 3, 1924

NO. 1

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief, Mary McNamara
 City Editor Esther Moore
 Sport Editor Gen Barthel
 Proof Readers Mary Tancred
 Marta Brown
 Theo Monti

Reporters

Virginia Stephens H. Karcher
 Dorothy Monarch A. Burkhart
 Esther Moore G. Barthel
 Jeannette Stirits M. Tancred

FOR OUR DEFENSE

A few years ago politics in a girls' school were torpid. Who would have predicted that girls would ever be discussing the presidential candidates, their platforms and abilities, in place of what is usually accredited to women—their dexterity only to discuss the latest modes of dress and, we can hardly say, at this period, coiffures, but more appropriately—manner of cutting the hair?

Of course, women's place in the political world being so recently grounded, we do not expect her, at this early period, to appreciate or even wholly realize her position and power to influence. However, many women know what their vote means, and the majority of these, we daresay, were brought to this realization by the present existing conditions in the government. We mean the degradations, in the form of party and secret organizations' influence on the office holders of the time, which have put a smirge, so to speak, on our name. This smirge is what has brought many women to the front and which should hold for every Christian woman, a sacred obligation to do all in her power to remove it.

In conclusion, we defend women, and more particularly college girls, against the insinuations, and we may say, assertions, concerning their attitude towards politics, by asking the accusers to observe more closely how the accused seek advice on the political questions although they prefer to convince themselves rather than be carried on by the trend of general belief. We also say that the girls of today do not scan the papers, but consume their every part, and not only daily papers, but also Catholic news journals, that they may also know the desires and hopes of the Church in purging politics of its undesirable elements and bringing back a name to our country which cannot be criticized.

SOCIAL EVENING PROGRAM

Instigated by the initiative of the Webster College Seniors, an entertaining program was presented in the recreation room on last Tuesday evening after Social Dinner. The acts of the familiar artists were greeted with great enthusiasm and the numbers given by the newly discovered talent were equally popular.

Miss Margie Reddin, one of the star attractions, danced several beautiful solos and as an encore gave an intricate jazz interpretation with grace and skill. Miss Pinks Hennage, champion "jigger" in the school, was forced to answer an impromptu hailing and jig to the lively piano accompaniment of Miss Dorothy Monarch. Miss Helen Fogg gave an aesthetic interpretation of the wooden soldier's march; the fairy-like lightness of each movement created intense hilarity in the audience. Miss Pearl Farrel's dramatic reading "Such is Life" was most favorably received. The cleverest performance was the skit "The Parisian Doll" composed and acted by the Misses Mary Haberl and Rosie Malon. Miss Jaunita Abel read a humorous monologue and showed remarkable power of characterization.

CONSTITUTION DAY PROGRAM

On Wednesday, September 8, in the College Auditorium, a delightfully rendered program was the fitting celebration of Constitution Day at Webster College, Webster Groves. In lieu of the patriotic significance of the day, the "Star Spangled Banner", in chorus, was the initial number of the afternoon's program.

Outstanding was the address of Dr. J. P. Donovan on "The Constitution Acknowledges the Supremacy of the Spiritual Order", in which a plea was made to the Webster girls to render a petition that a memorial be erected to Pelatiah Webster befitting the niche of fame to which the Father of our Constitution should be assigned.

Pelatiah Webster's efforts were the subject of a very splendid paper by Miss Hummert.

Simply and eloquently Mr. Blakewell set forth the magnificence of our Constitution. "Its strength," he explained, "lies in the first three words 'We, the people'."

Miss Cotter's reading, "Christo Columbus" was the gay flect in the afternoon's program.

OPENING OF SCHOOL

Shortly after the first of September, the new students began to arrive for the 1924-25 college term. Registration for the new students began the following Monday, and continued for a week. The former students had registered before the close of school in June, so it was not necessary that they return to College as early as the new girls.

The Freshman Class is the largest in the school, and is the largest ever enrolled in the College. There are students from about twelve states, the greatest number coming from Missouri. Practically all of the upper classes are larger than they were last year, with the arrival of students from other schools.

The Shorthand and Typewriting Classes are larger than in previous years, and several new typewriters have been added to the department. A number of special students are enrolled in the Commercial, Art and Journalism Classes.

COMING EVENTS

The faculty announced that on Monday afternoon, October 13, Mr. Vivian Watkins will give a reading. All students are expected to attend. A cordial invitation is extended to the pupils of Loretto Academy.

Every other Wednesday afternoon, Miss Reynolds, the athletic teacher, will take all the girls who care to swim, to the Y.W.C.A. Swimming pool. Everyone please take notice and hand in your name in time, so that no one will be left.

One of the special activities that is going to be taken up this year is horse-back riding. A quota of ten is necessary before definite dates can be decided. Owing to the amount of enthusiasm shown among the girls we feel there will be no trouble in getting the required number.

FIRST FLOOR TRAGEDY

Daily baths almost proved fatal to Alberta Bill, who in his cell, in Room X last Wednesday suffered from a severe attack of gastritis. His keeper, Sister Marie Anthony, alarmed by his condition, was overcome by palpitation of the heart. Sick-room attendants, however, report that both patients are recovering nicely.

CAMPUS NEWS

Jeanette Stiritz spent the week-end with her cousin, Marie Scheider of St. Louis.

Mary Tancred had a pleasant visit over the week-end with Mrs. Wade of St. Louis.

Adele Burkhart spent the week end with Margaret Mowrey.

Mary McNamara and Margaret Reddin spent Saturday hunting rabbits in St. Chas.

Lucinda Clements has been in the infirmary for the past several days with a severely sprained ankle. She expects to be able to attend classes next week.

Dorothy Vennewitz spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Mark, in St. Louis.

Mrs. Dillen: (In Journalism Class) "Girls, I want you to read a newspaper a day."

Bright Pupil: "Yes, A paper a day will keep the G's away."

FALL DAY PICNIC

Old Sol smiled down upon and reflected the sunshine in the hearts of the Webster girls as they started out last Thursday morning, accompanied by several members of the faculty, to the Quarry near Meramac Highlands for their annual Fall Day picnic. At nine-thirty, a chartered car conveyed them to their destination.

The Quarry is a most picturesque place quite ideal for a picnic. There are shady green dells, huge boulders, and an old well, enclosed by a high stone wall. The picnickers entertained themselves by scaling the boulders, climbing the hills, and exploring the interesting places. A number of the girls went swimming and boating. Several of the party brought kodaks and took pictures.

Lunch and supper were prepared in the primitive manner of cooking on open bonfires, and the food consisted of all things necessary to satisfy picnic appetites.

As Old Sol sank in the West, the Webster girls returned home, wired, with sunburned faces, scratched faces and arms, and stiff bodies. But whoever heard of going to a picnic and not returning tired, sunburned, and happy?

FRESHMAN INITIATION

Some fifty girls are full-fledged Freshmen since initiation of the evening of Wednesday, September 17.

Dressed in gingham, and bearing in hand a towel and safety pin, the Freshmen assembled in the recreation room where the entire school enjoyed a "hand-out" supper. At 7 o'clock the ceremonies of the evening began. Each Freshman chose an upper classman to take her through the mysteries of initiation. After leaving the building, the Freshmen were led to the place where "Blue Beard's Wives" were suspended on a rose bush, and were greatly frightened by the wierd sounds, moans, and unusual lights that were thrust upon their already terro-stricken senses. At last, after what seemed an eternity, they were taken to "Idle Hour" where the upper classmen at least, had a very jolly time. The Freshmen were forced to climb over mountains, ridges, make perilous ascents over vast unknown spaces, over rocks and stones, without even the protection of shoes. When the now almost full-fledged Freshies were told to remove their blind folds, exclamations of horror arose from all of them, when they discovered that nothing less than half of the faculty were spectators of their foolish maneuvers.

Miss Gladys O'Connor called the meeting to order, and the freshies sat in a circle like soldiers waiting their commands. For a week it has been plain to see what said orders were: green ribbons, hair behind ears, doing without dessert, and making the beds of the upper classmen. Sister Louise in Assembly, paid a glowing tribute to the Freshies, saying that she thought them mighty good sports. After all, was it not worth while?

THE WEB

Editorial Staff

Managing Editor-----Lillian O'Connor
 City Editor-----Adèle Burkart
 Sport Editor-----Mildred Monnige

Reporters

Laura Archer Kathryn Skarry
 Gen Barthel Marian Peterson
 Dorothy Monarch Virginia Walsh

Copy Readers

Violet Burdick Adelaide Cross

Editorial

Last Year Volume I of the Lauretanum, the yearbook of Webster College, appeared. To say that it was successful is to state a wellknown fact. This year Volume II is on its way. Will it, too, be successful? Will it be worthy to follow Volume I? With a staff working overtime for a bigger and better Lauretanum, its seems probable.

But even an overworked staff cannot make a successful yearbook. The student body of Webster College can make or refuse to make the Lauretanum. The cooperation of every student is necessary; every girl must be behind the undertaking heart and soul.

As a result of the cooperation shown the group pictures and snapshots are finished and cameras will be allowed a rest until we are favored with snow.

With the same spirit transferred to the financial side, the strain to meet bills would not be so great. In our opinion, the demand for chances on donated articles greater; more numbers could be sold; the books could be filled quicker. Those who have pledged to buy a yearbook, could put their $3.50 in the hands of the Treasurer or Business Manager, at once; and it is not impossible that more pledges could be secured. A book for every girl should be the goal of each class. If every student is not sufficiently interested in her Alma Mater to purchase a record of the year's achievements, who, may we ask, is?

Willingness to help in any line whatsoever has always been the spirit of the Loretto girl. Her attitude is characterized not so much, by "How easily can I get by?" as by, "How much can I do?" That is the spirit Webster College should keep alive. With such a spirit backing the staff of the Lauretanum, Volume II should be one of the finest accomplishments of the year 1935. Fall in line, students, let's make it our best.

Social Events

The much looked for social evening was held on Wednesday October the 22nd in the College diningroom and recreation hall on the first floor. The dinner was most acceptable as it always is and delicious after a month's absence. The Juniors as a class were the first to entertain and they did it well. May we make special mention of Miss Genevieve Barthel who recited so dramatically Longfellow's "Deck of the Hesperus?"

The first St. Louis University Conclave dance of the season was held at the Hotel Statler Ballroom on the night of Tuesday October 21. Bartley Readey's orchestra played for the entertainment. Webster College was represented by a number of her students.

Loretto Girl Enters Novitiate

Miss Mary Reddin, of Denver Colorado, last year's honor graduate of Loretto College, Webster Groves, Missouri left Friday October 24, for Loretto Kentucky, where she will begin a novitiate at the Mother House of the Sisters of Loretto.

Miss Reddin received her Degree Bachelor of Arts at Loretto. How Webster College, and is one of the most talented and popular young ladies who have attended the College. She is also an accomplished musician.

Miss Reddin is the first of graduates of Webster College to join the Sisters of Loretto and she will devote the rest of her life to the teaching work of their order.

During her short visit at Webster College with her sister, Miss Margaret Reddin, and friends and classmates, Miss Reddin was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the alumnae of Loretto College at the Jefferson Hotel on Wednesday October 22. She also was a guest at a steak fry given in her honor on Thursday evening, October 25, by Miss Lucy Reynolds, Athletic Director of Webster College.

Miss Reddin's host of friends wish her great success and happiness in the new life which she has chosen.

The Sisters and Student body of Webster College desire to extend sincere sympathy to Reverend Father O'Malley, Professor of Religion, in the illness of his mother and to assure him of their prayers and good wishes for her speedy recovery.

Attends Convention

The Reverend Joseph Donovan, of Kenrick Seminary, Professor of Ethics at Webster College, returned Thursday from a trip to Milwaukee where he attended a rural convention last week. The purpose of his trip was to address a body of seminarians on Catholic Seminaries and the Rural District. During the convention many agricultural subjects were discussed.

Fall Dance

The annual Fall Dance of Webster College Webster Groves, will be given Tuesday night, November 25, at the Forest Park Hotel, St. Louis. It will be an informal dance and only students of the school and their guests will participate. An orchestra from one of the Country Clubs has been engaged for the evening. The chaperones have not been decided upon.

Sport News

Basket ball practice has begun at Webster College, Webster Groves, under the coaching of Miss Lucy Reynolds. Hard and strenuous practice is held every afternoon at Idle Hour, the College gym. Practically all the students are out for the first team, while each class is intensely determined to be the cup-winners in the school. Later in the season Webster College is scheduled to meet some very fast and well-trained teams.

Conservatory News

A class of Appreciation of Music was formed by Sister Joseph Mary, Director of Webster Conservatory of Music, on Monday, October 27, in Assembly B. Class will be held on each Monday at 2 o'clock and the work will consist in a study of music from the earliest times up to the modern composers. Twelve students have arranged to take the course which gives two college hours of credit. Sister Joseph Mary will have charge.

The cooperation mentioned in the editorial in regard to helping the staff of the Lauretanum should be extended to include the editors of "The Web".

Have you subscribed for the Lauretanum? If not, why not?

Miss Helen Karcher and Miss Helen Fogg, students at Webster College, were week-end visitors of Miss Virginia Stephens, 5846 Labadie Ave. St. Louis.

Miss Frances Kohl spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kohl of 312 South Illinois St. Bellville, Illinois.

Miss Agnes Griffin spent the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Beecher of Lindell Ave., St. Louis.

The many friends of Miss Gretchen Fegors will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from a slight illness, and has resumed her studies at Webster College.

Miss Annie Ruth Milligan and Miss Laura Archer were guests of Miss Edith Glosomeyer of O'Fallon from Friday until Monday.

Sister Mary Borgia, Professor of Mathematics, who has been ill since Monday, is much improved.

A Hallowe'en party was given Wednesday night at Herinck Hall on Lockwood Avenue and Big Ben Road, by the students of the Academy. Mother Edith, and the Academy Faculty were the guests of honor.

The concert to be given tonight by Madame Schumann-Heink at the Odeon will be attended by several students of Webster College. The party will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Fenton J. Peterson, and Miss Esther Moore.

In the interest of the St. Luke's scholarship for art students to Washington University, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Meyers addressed the student body of Webster College, Thursday morning October 30. A card party will be given at the Hotel Broussard in St. Louis on Monday, December 1, the proceeds of which will go into the scholarship fund. About thirty girls of the College will attend.

Misses Mary McManara, Margaret Reddin and Virginia Walsh, Sophomores of Webster College, were guests of Miss Marie Hart in St. Louis, from Friday until Sunday evening.

The Journalism Class is still looking forward to the day when Miss Young, of the St. Louis Star will come to the College and tell the class a few interesting phases of newspaper work.

The annual Hallowe'en party was given in Idle Hour last night with the Sophomores as hostesses. Copy from the star reporter sent to cover the affair failed to get in on time for this issue. Full particulars will be given in the next issue of the Web.

THE WEB

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief Mary McNamara
City Editor Mary Tancred
Sport Editor Gen Barthel

Reporters

Lillian O'Connor Dorothy Monarch
Virginia Walsh Theresa Shea
Agnes Fuchschiidt Mary Tancred

Copy Reader
Adelaide Gross

EDITORIAL

Up to the present time, and we hope it will continue, we have always been complimented on our splendid co-operation in things that have concerned the good of the school. And is that not school spirit? However it is easy for us as individuals, to lose sight of what benefit a thing may hold for the school, if it inconveniences us; this thoughtfulness is what we are now fighting against--complete subjugation of self and advancement of "webster", a name which has come to mean a great deal to each and every one of us.

A few years ago, during a period none of us likes to recall, the slogan "Give until it hurts" expressed exactly the attitude we should now hold for our school. Not that we are called on to give in the same way but in a way perhaps more difficult.

Our College is still more or less in its infancy, although we might consider the growth it has recently attained to have picked up bodily from that stage and put it into its childhood, still, our sentiments and customs are in the period of development, and if we desire them to be worthy of the Alma Mater that has fostered them, we must let them be nothing that is not commendable in spirit and practice.

"If a race should be oriented between the ZR-3 and the Shenandoah--and should one not be arranged at an early date?--it would not necessarily take place on a kite-shaped track.

La Follete's campaign money ~~smells of toil~~ and not of oil.

"Powerful is public opinion in a small town if it is small enough.

VEILED PROPHET PARADE

The Veiled Prophet Parade, with its glamour and festive element, afforded a gala night for the girls of Webster College, on Tuesday, October 7. High above the seething crowds on Washington Avenue, the girls viewed the multi-coloured floats from Stix-Baer & Fuller.

Many had not seen this annual affair before, and it was a delightful experience to them as well as to the old students.

At 10:00 the last float passed and the girls, under the chaperonage of Misses Reynolds, Prevost, Donovan, and Moore, began a brave struggle through the mob and arrived at Webster whole and entire, and never too weary for chocolate and cakes which were served by Sister Marie Anthony and Sister Juliene in the College Dining Room.

ANNUAL INVESTITURE

The annual ceremony of student investiture of caps and gowns took place October 8, in the chapel at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo.

The entire student body assembled for the service and Rev. J. P. Donovan, C. M. the chaplain, officiated.

The ceremony opened with a prayer of blessing read by Father Donovan. After the blessing, the Seniors, wearing caps and gowns, advanced, and the younger students each wearing a cap and carrying a gown on her arm, went to the sanctuary railing, there to be invested. Sixty Freshmen participated in this service.

In Father Donovan's address to the students after the investiture, he presented St. Joan of Arc as an exemplar for the college girl. He described two scenes of nearly 500 years ago: first, the Saint in the Cathedral of Rheims when the Dauphin of France was crowned; second, her martyrdom, May 30 1431.

The development of your bodies and the training of your minds," said Father Donovan, addressing the students, "is only secondary to the culture of your wills and the grounding of your character. Strength of body and cleverness and strength of mind are only the lead and platinum in the setting of the jewel of human character... The Christian college girl, by her life and by her work, must defend not only her country, but all Christian civilization, through a fealty to the institution of marriage."

The Senior Class of Webster College met on Thursday, September twenty-fifth, in Sister Louise's room, and elected the following officers: President, Miss Violet Barnicle, Vice-President, Miss Lillian O'Connor; Secretary, Miss Gladys O'Connor; Treasurer, Miss Rosemary O'Connor.

The Junior Class elected the following officers, on Monday, September thirtieth: President, Miss Louise Murphy; Vice-President, Miss Dorothy O'Connor; Secretary, Miss Annete Gleeson; Treasurer, Miss Margaret Mowry. Miss Dorothy O'Connor, who has accepted a position as technician at St. Mary's Hospital in St. Louis, resigned October fourth, when Miss Genevieve Barthel was elected Vice-President to fill the vacancy.

The Sophomore Class officers, elected October first, are: President, Miss Mary Tancred; Vice-President, Miss Theresa Shea; Secretary, Miss Marie Hart; Treasurer, Miss Virginia Stephens.

The Freshman Class officers, elected October fourth, are: President, Miss Elizabeth Dauwalter; Vice-President, Miss Celeste Bloc; Secretary, Miss Kathryn Hummert; Treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Corrigan. The Freshman officers will serve until January when another election will take place. The officers of the three upper classes were elected for the entire year.

COMING EVENTS

Miss Edith Virginia Young, Editor of the Women's Page of the St. Louis Star, will give a lecture next Monday afternoon, October 20, at 1:10 P. M. to the Journalistic Writing class of Webster College.

The Sophomore Class announces a Hallowe'en Masquerade for the college girls and academy seniors the evening of October 30, at Idlehour. The annual Hallowe'en frolic has previously been given by the Freshman Class but a change in the schedule has reserved the entertainment of the students by the Freshmen until Spring.

Miss Ada K. Cannon, A. B. of Iowa, will give a two weeks course in Parliamentary Law. Lectures will be held November 15, 17, 18, 20, 24 and 25.

The Nancy Havern Unit of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, to which all the Webster students belong, will give a card party November 15, for the benefit of the missions in China. The motive in dispensing with the number of smaller parties usually given at stated times during the year, and giving the card party is to eliminate by a general organized effort the many petty functions throughout the year.

The Senior Class announces that the annual Fall Dance will be given November 25.

CAMPUS NEWS

Miss Mary Reddin, a graduate of the 1923 class of Webster College, will arrive in St. Louis Saturday 18, for a short visit.

Miss Mary McNamara returned Thursday from Louisville where she acted as bridesmaid in the wedding of Mrs. John Golden, formerly Miss Betty Duane.

Webster College was well represented at the Veiled Prophet Ball. The Misses Margaret Tiernan, Harriet Averill, Marie Shea, Catherine Skarry, Florence Pitt Smith and Adelaide Gross being among the young ladies present.

Among the out-of-town students who spent the week-end in St. Louis were the Misses Lucille Roof, Virginia McClung, Dorothy Monarch, Florence Pitt Smith, Mary Tancred and Mildred Hennage.

The members of the Senior Class of Webster College had luncheon together in St. Louis on Saturday.

Miss Virginia Walsh sailed on the Republic and arrived in the States October 3, after spending two months touring France, Ireland and England. Miss Walsh arrived at Webster College Tuesday, October 7, and was enthusiastically received as one of the most popular members of the Sophomore Class.

Miss Gertrude Wahrer and Miss Marcelle Prevost, popular members of the Webster College Faculty, were among the smartly dressed women seen during luncheon at the Statler on Saturday.

Miss Helen Fogg and Miss Margie Reddin entertained with a bridge last Friday evening. Miss Mildred Hennage, who was an honor guest, wore a charming frock of black trimmed with French Blue.

In honor of his daughter Miss Helen Fogg, Mr. George Fogg was host at a luncheon on Saturday at the Missouri Athletic Association.

LECTURE

Mr. Vivian Watkins read George Broadhurst's play "Bought and Paid For" in the College Auditorium, Monday, October 13.

THE WEB

Volume 1

November 14 1924

Number 4

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	Lillian O'Connor
City Editor	Adole Burkart
Sport Editor	Mildred Hennago
News Editor	Rosamund Smith

Reporters

Annette Gleason	Dorothy Monarch
Celesto Block	Theo Fohlig
Helen Simon	Agnes Tuchschildt

Copy Readers

Adelaide Gross	Violet Barnicle
----------------	-----------------

EDITORIAL

The word "editorial" is defined as an article, as in a newspaper, written by an editor or one of his assistants, in which is set forth the opinion or position of the paper on some subject.

The subject in this case is the progress of Webster College during the past two and a half months. The opinion or position is to be yours, not ours. If it be possible for an editorial to be innocent of the word "we", this one shall be. It is your opinion that counts. Ours will not intrude.

In the first place has Webster College moved forward since September 9? Has it taken steps in the right direction? Here are the facts. The decision is yours.

An enrollment of one hundred, asked by Sister Louise, was the goal for this year. Special efforts were made and an enrollment of 165 is the result. Is that progress?

The community singing in the chapel formerly done by the Academy girls, has been taken over by the College. A Choral Club of fifty voices has been organized and practice begun. Is that progress?

Sixteen pages have been added to the Laurentium for this year, making the total number ninety-six. Is that progress?

The Journalism class, under the direction of Mrs. Daniel Dillon, a newspaper woman of wide experience, is publishing "The Web" every second week. A newspaper is the dream of every college: the eight page weekly, which will probably make its appearance in 1930, as the paper of Webster College, will grow out of our present "Web". Is the present "Web" a sign of progress?

No influence will be brought to bear upon you in answering these questions. No public answer will be required of anyone, but honesty with one's self is essential.

If your answer be "Yes", puff out your chest, throw your head back; show your pride in Webster College by keeping up the good work.

If "No" be your result of your mental gymnastics, puff out your chest, throw back your head: show your pride in Webster College by remedying these things and making them conform to Progress.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

The Sophomores entertained with a Hallowe'en Masquerade party for the Gillego girls and Academy Seniors at Idle Hour on October 30.

Previous to this year the Freshmen had always given the Hallowe'en party, but it was decided upon that the Sophomores would give it this year. The Freshmen can entertain later this year when they are more acquainted with the customs of the school.

The gym was decorated in Hallowe'en colors. Streamers were hanging across both ends of the hall and here and there were black cats and ghostly goblins. In one corner was the witch's hut, in front of which a fire burned brightly. The lights were dimly shaded and gave the room a spooky appearance.

The girls all assembled in the gym and promptly at 7:30 the Grand March began. It was during the march that the prizes were awarded to Miss Florence Pitt Smith, for the prettiest costume; Miss Dorothy Dahmus, the most original, and Miss Dorothy Wangler for the funniest. After the prizes were given programs were distributed and each girl filed out her own dances. The hostesses had provided a pianist so that music was furnished throughout the whole evening.

During the first part of the evening peanuts and doughnuts were passed around. The royal keg of cider was at the disposal of the thirsty guests. A volley of apples came rolling out of the dark corners of the hall during the dancing and added zest to the evening entertainment for the merry dancers to dodge the stream of apples. A prize was awarded to Miss Peggy Wright and Miss Catherine Boone for the best dancing.

A number of the members of the sophomore class responded to the demand for the guests that they perform their favorite stunts.

The sophomores spared no efforts to make the evening a success and the evening was one of the most delightful in the social life of Webster College.

DEATH OF MRS. O'MALLY

To Father O'Malley the Faculty and students extend sincere and deep sympathy on his bereavement and assure him of their prayers for his mother.

The following officers have been elected by the Nancy Havern Students' Mission Crusade Unit at Webster College; Miss Lucinda Clements, President; Miss M. Bradfish, Vice President; Miss Agnes Tuschmidt, Secretary; Miss Lucille Roof, Treasurer.

The Nancy Havern Unit is planning to give a card party on the afternoon of November 15, at St. Rose's Auditorium, Goodfellow and Etzel Avenues. The purpose of the card party is to raise funds for the permanent home in China which the Sisters of Loretto are preparing. Those in charge of the card party expect to have 100 tables. A prize will be given for each table.

Some students' "much-bragged about" school spirit seems to suddenly desert them when Mission or charity work is asked of them.

The thirty members of the Senior Class of Nerinx Hall served a luncheon to the students of the academy in the spacious garden surroundings, for the benefit of the Missions. The luncheon consisted of sandwiches, ice-cream, hot chocolate and cake.

The Loretto Players Dramatic Art Class of Webster College under the direction of Mrs. Anna McClain Sankoy will present in the Little Theatre three one act plays; "Botty's Ancestors," "Nevertheless," and "The Cast Rehearses," Monday night November 24. Tickets have been placed on sale, at 50¢ each.

CONVENTION AT STATLER

The Annual Convention of the National Council of Catholic Women was held at the Hotel Statler in St. Louis, November 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. The Council is an organization which grew out of the National Catholic Welfare Council and is composed of delegates from all the Catholic Women's Clubs. At the General Meeting in the Odeon Monday night, Archbishop Glannon, Bishop Edvoma of Corpus Christi, Dr. Emmet Kano and Miss Agnes Rogon, the National Secretary of the Council, were the speakers. Four students from the College chaperoned by Miss Prevost attended. The Regular meetings held in the Statler ball-room were attended by members of the Juniors and Senior classes.

RECEPTION FOR DELEGATES

Delegates to the National Council of Catholic Women from out of state cities, paid Webster College a visit Sunday November 9. The Sisters and students conducted the ladies over the College and Campus, after which punch was served in the reception room. At 4:30 the Sisters, Delegates and students attended Benediction in the Chapel, Fr. F. V. Corcoran of Kenrick Seminary officiating. The forty delegates were from St. Paul, Baltimore, Salt Lake, San Francisco, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Cincinnati.

Miss Harriet Colla of 6405 Cates Ave. St. Louis, entertained last Saturday afternoon with five tables of bridge. Those who attended from Webster College were Miss Harriet Averill, Miss Thelma Coyne, Miss Elizabeth Dauwalter, Miss Helen Mae Heisserer, Miss Helen McNulty and Miss Celeste Block.

The Choral Club of Webster College Webster Groves, Mo. has elected the following officers; Miss Lillian O'Connor President; Miss Margaret Tiernon, Vice-President; Miss Esthur Moore, Secretary; and Miss Gladys O'Connor, Treasurer. Meetings are held every Monday evening and a great deal of enthusiasm and interest is being shown by its members.

Two raffles took place recently at Webster College to raise funds for the year book. An order of flowers donated by A. E. Stoidle was won by Miss Teresa Shea. Miss Margaret Roddin was the winner of the three-strand necklace of pearls donated by Robbins Jewellery Co.

Attorney Frank P. Walsh of New York and Washington, came to Webster College last Friday to visit his daughters Sister Francis Marie and Miss Virginia Walsh.

Rev. Mother Clarasine and Mother Olivette of Loretto Mother House of Loretto Kentucky were at Webster College Tuesday and Wednesday.

Under the direction of Miss Ada K. Gannon, Parliamentary Law will be studied at Webster College, Webster Groves Mo. The first lecture was on Thursday morning 9 o'clock. The course will be completed with five succeeding lectures on November 25. The students will carry on a debate in which full parliamentary usage will be insisted upon. Miss Gannon has a national reputation as a parliamentarian and is a graduate of Mount St. Joseph's College, Dubuque, Ia.

Webster College's fame is spreading abroad. The students were thrilled yesterday when Miss Ada K. Gannon, the Parliamentary Law Instructor, told them that while in New York a short time ago she read in a New York paper "that Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo. has doubled its enrollment this year." Something like the shot heard round the world.—Ed.

The meanest man in the world is the warden who put a tack in the electric chair.—Bison.

"Grandma, can you help me with this problem?"

"I could, dear, but do you think it would be right?"

"No, I don't suppose so, but you might have a stab at it and see."

Man, in search of his wife: "Bridge do you know anything of my wife's whereabouts?"

Bridge: "Yes sir, I put them

THE WEB

Volume I

December 5, 1924

Number 5

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	M. Tancred
City Editor	D. Monarch
Sport Editor	M. McNamara
News Editor	V. Walsh
Circulation Manager	M. Hennage
Reporters
L. O'Connor	C. Dziatsko
A. Tuchschnidt	V. Walsh
T. Fehlig	D. Monarch
Copy Readers
H. Karcher	V. Stephens

FALL DANCE

The annual fall dance of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo, was given at the Forest Park Hotel, St. Louis, Tuesday night, November 25. The chaperones were Mesdames Mark Anderson, Joseph Weiler, Norman George, Milton Meyer, Misses Kathryn Skarry, Gertrude Wahrer, Marcel Prevost, and Lucy Reynolds, all of whom, excepting Miss Lucy Reynolds, director of Athletics at the College, are graduates of Webster College.

Music for the evening was furnished by the Riverview Country Club Orchestra.

The Committee in charge of the dance, which was sponsored by the Senior Class of the College, was Misses Margaret Tiernon, Helen Healy, Rosemary O'Connor, Marie Hanlon, Gladys O'Connor and Advera Fehlig.

The next event in the social calendar of Webster College is the Senior Prom, which will take place the latter part of January immediately before the opening of the second semester.

Egotism has been the dignity-saver for millions of individuals and at the same time has been one of the greatest drawbacks the mass of people has had to contend with. A person relies unconsciously on his egotism to interpret humiliations, slams, disinterestedness and insults in the most alleviating way; but egotistical blindness to self-imperfections has been a handicap to social progress.

An outgrowth of egotism is belief in "Broadmindedness"; modern receptivity is making this a popular cult. It is the pet hobby of the narrowest man in the world to assert his tolerance. Broadmindedness is a gigantic term similar in comprehension to impersonality. Nature is opposed to the achievement of this state: the development of the mind is based on the formation of successive concepts which are often colored by prejudice; the finished product, belief or philosophy, must be tinged with the ingredients used in the progressive development.

To be broadminded in matters of religious beliefs or political loyalty is to withdraw strict mental adherence from a single standard and to proclaim the existence of several standards each equally good and desirable.

Diversity of human beliefs demands tolerance towards action; but sincerity of creed permits no allegiance to the modern vogue of "broadmindedness".

FRANK P. WALSH SPOKE AT CLASSMATES' REUNION

Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, who served as chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee during President Wilson's first administration, was the principal speaker at a reunion of many of his classmates of St. Lawrence O'Toole's School at a carnival, Monday night, November 24, at the school hall, 1215 North Fourteenth street, St. Louis.

Former parishioners and graduates of the school who were present included William L. Igoe, Senator Michael Kinney, James E. Carroll, former United States District Attorney Arthur Donnelly, William J. Brennan and James Gallagher.

Mr. Walsh is the father of Miss Virginia Walsh who is a sophomore at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo.

ST. LOUIS STAR Reporter Spoke to Journalism Class

Miss Catherine Daly, St. Louis Star reporter, spoke to the Journalism class of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., at its regular class period, Monday, November 17.

Professor Daniel Kilham Dodge of the University of Illinois is convinced, after years of research work, that Lincoln's success in writing and speaking was the result of constant effort; contrary to the general belief that Lincoln, like Goldsmith was a master of English style by the grace of God, and without special effort on his part.

Requested by her City Editor, Miss Daly emphasized the wages of reporters. For the first two weeks they receive only carfare and lunch money. Then "if there is a vacancy" they receive $12 a week; later, as in any other office they are

(continued on page 2)

THE PAGEANT OF PEACE

"The Pageant of Peace", a Christmas masque written by Rev. D. A. Lord, S. J., was produced Thanksgiving week in Chicago at the Loyola University gymnasium. Twelve performances were given. This drama is the second of a series of ten to be given annually by the Catholics of that city.

Reverend C. J. Perrin, S. J., Professor of English at Loyola University, Chicago, and a nationally known authority on Shakespearian drama, was the general director of the Masque. He had his cast at work for the past 2 months.

Miss Beatrice Turner, a graduate of the Visitation Convent of St. Louis, was chosen by Director Perrin to assist in the training of the dancing and in the costume designing.

His Eminence, Cardinal George W. Mundelein, after seeing this Masque asked the author to prepare a similar Masque for the Eucharistic Congress which is to be held in Chicago in 1926.

The performance was an artistic success. The stage settings were worked out perfectly. The dancers were well trained.

A copy of the book "Our Nuns" was sent to the students of Webster College by Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., the author. The following inscription holds a special thrill for those who have the honor of knowing Father Lord.

"To the Loretto girls who figure in these pages and who made me think more highly of our Catholic young women, with a wish: Happiness to all, and to some a permanent place among "our Loretto nuns"

Signed

Daniel A. Lord, S.J.

CAMPUS NEWS

The Webster College faculty and student body were well represented at the "Pageant of Peace", written by Reverend D. A. Lord, S. J., and presented in Chicago during Thanksgiving week. Mother Edith, Sisters Marie Anthony, Marie Clyde, and Julienne, accompanied by Mrs. A. M. Sankey and Misses Reynolds, O'Reilly, Griffin and Haberel.

The following students of Webster College returned to their homes for the Thanksgiving holidays: Dorothy Vennewitz to Fairfield, Ill; Helen McGuire to Sterling, Ill; Catherine Hummert to Breese, Ill; Anna De Lay to Kansas City, Mo; Pauline Shocklee to Silex, Mo; Helen Mae Heisserer to Benton, Mo; Frances Kohl to Belleville, Ill; and Thelma Coyne to East St. Louis.

Miss Virginia Walsh was with her sister, Mrs. Harold Stanleigh Bradley, at Atchison, Kans, during the holidays.

Miss Mary Tancred was the guest of Miss Kathryn Skarry and Miss Virginia Gardner during the holidays.

Miss Annie Ruth Milligan was the guest of Miss Shocklee at her home in Silex, Mo.

Misses Margaret Reddin and Mildred Hennage were the guests of Miss Mary McNamara during the holidays.

Miss Marie Hart was the house guest of Miss Madeline Huppert at Washington, Mo. during the holidays.

Miss Dorothy Monarch was the guest of Misses Margaret Parker and Marie Powers during the holidays.

Miss Heden Karcher was the guest of Miss Virginia Stephens, 5846 Labadie Ave, St. Louis, during the holidays.

Sister Marie Loretto, accompanied by Sister Florentine of Lafayette, spent Thanksgiving at the Mother-house, Loretto, Ky.

The marriage of Miss Rocelia Ohlegschlager and Mr. Joseph T. Dougherty was solemnized Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Bridget's Church. The Rev. Maurus Ohlagschlager, O. S. B., brother of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. James Maloney, of Fairfield, Ky, deacon, and the Rev. James Willet, sub-deacon.

Miss Catharine Ohlegschlager was her sister's maid of honor and Mr. Peter Casey was Mr. Dougherty's best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. B. Ohlegschlager, wore a wedding gown of white broche velvet chiffon, trimmed in white fox fur and tulle veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, valley lillies and orchids.

The maid of honor wore a dress of sunburst beaded chiffon, trimmed in fur with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses.

Miss Rocelia Ohligschlager was graduated from the Webster College Academy in 1923.

The following girls spent the holidays with friends in the City: Misses Iberger, Ledwidge and Corrigan.

Indignant Officer: "Why didn't you stop? Didn't you see me wave at you?"
"Sop" Hart: "Yes, but I'm not that kind of a girl."

Rare Orchids Gathered in Columbian Republic on Exhibit at Shaw's Garden

BASKET BALL CAPTAINS ELECTED

The Athletic Association of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, November 18, met in the college gymnasium to elect officers for the senior and junior, sophomore, and freshman basket ball teams.

Those elected were: Miss Gladys O'Connor, Captain of the senior and junior team; Miss Virginia Walsh, Captain of the sophomore team; and Miss Harriet Averill, Captain of the freshman team.

The following girls have been selected for the class teams: senior-junior team, G. O'Connor, L. O'Connor, A. Burkart, G. Barthel, V. Barnicle, L. Murphy, M. Mowrey; sophomore: V. Walsh, M. Tancred, M. McNamara, M. Hennage, H. Fogg, D. Vennewitz, and M. Reddin; freshman: H. Averill, P. Shocklee, G. Corcoran, C. Bloc, C. Dziatsko and M. Leonard.

In a special interview today to a reporter on the Web, Coach Lucy Reynolds of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., stated that she was very much discouraged over the lack of enthusiasm shown for basket ball practice by the girls at the college this year.

Coach Reynolds also wishes to remind the girls that games will take place in spite of negligence in practicing and she hopes the pride of the girls before their faculty and friends will create a marked change in their afternoon attendance at practice.

BILLIKENS EXPECT TO MEET STRONG EASTERNERS IN 1925.

It is reported that 4 big games, one with a leading Eastern team, probably Carnegie Tech, will be scheduled for the St. Louis University football team next fall. The athletic director, Alphonse G. Eberle, has been corresponding with a number of schools in the East which, besides Carnegie Tech, includes West Virginia, Colgate, Cornell, Dartmouth, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania State. His responses have been uncertain but after the most successful season a Billiken team has enjoyed in years favorable negotiations are expected.

AT THE SHOWS

- American.....The Follies
Missouri.....Julian Eltinge
Grand Central...."Abraham Lincoln"
Orpheum.....Mary Nash
Loew's State....."The Snob"

The annual orchid show at the Missouri Botanical (Shaw's) Garden opened November 30. There are 5000 tulipan orchids collected in the Columbian Republic last year by George H. Pring, Shaw's Garden horticulturist, on exhibition. No admittance fee is charged.

1000 plants of the tulipan group are already in flower. This is responsible for the early opening of the show, one of the most colorful orchid exhibitions ever held in the United States, in Pring's estimation.

Committee Report

The Committee appointed by the Parliamentary Law Class of 1924 wishes to report that on soliciting the Dean regarding the campus marks it has been informed that four tardy marks for study hour instead of three are required for a campus but that in regard to working off marks for a campus the Dean specifically says: "Nothing Doing".

Signed

Cathryn Hummert

Virginia Walsh

(Advertisement) Lillian O'Connor

AFTER LOGIC

Sister Louise: "Jinny, why aren't you at athletics today?"

Jinny Walsh: "Sister, I've had my exercise!"

Sister Louise: "Why, you haven't had "gym" today."

Jinny: "No, Sister, but I've been climbing up and down the "Porphyrian tree" for Father Corcoran for the last forty-five minutes."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Christmas Holidays will begin after classes Friday, December 19 and end Wednesday morning, January 7 at 9 o'clock. Any absence within 24 hours of the beginning or 24 hours after the close of the holidays will be regarded as a triple cut.

The first basket ball game of the season will be played Wednesday evening December 17 at 6:45 in the College gymnasium. The game is scheduled between the freshmen and sophomores.

The swimming class of Webster College is expected to assemble at the regular meeting place Wednesday afternoon, December 10, at 2 o'clock. Those who paid 35 cents to the Athletic treasurer for swimming dues last time will be credited for that amount on next Wednesday.

MISSION CARD PARTY

Nancy Havern Unit of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade at Webster College gave a card party Saturday afternoon November 15, at St. Rose's School Hall for the benefit of the Loretto Missions in Han Yang, China, where the Sisters of Loretto have opened their first missionary house.

The College students and their friends attended. The affair was successful from both a social and financial standpoint. Small boxes of Busy Bee candy ice-cream and cake were served. The receipts from the door and refreshments amounted to over $200.

ART, BOOKS and PLAYS

By M. Tancred

The Russian Exhibit at the City Art Museum includes 100 canvases. The subjects are not peculiarly Russian but representations of the usual landscapes, figures, still life paintings and allegorical themes. The treatment is foreign but is based on inviolable principles of sound technique. Kandinsky's futuristic cubism and tactilism have proved merely amusing innovations.

Lacking vision, Chekov called the Russians "dull, gray people". Instead they are intensely thrilled with the message of life. Bialinitski, Hausch, and Krymov have given expression to deeply poetic themes. Their paintings "January Night", "Gray Evening, Petrograd" and "Morning Landscape" are three of the most emotionally responsive themes on exhibition.

"In the Middle of the Road" by Sir Philip Gibbs is to be recommended, not as fiction, but as an account of present-day political conditions. "Bertram Pollard is the son of a conservative of the die hard type whose children have all rebelled against his views. Bertram is married to the pleasure loving, bobbed-haired Joyce, daughter of the Earl of Ottery and though he loves her, he has no sympathy with her ideas or friends. Joyce leaves him when he refuses to join the strike breakers, and he then starts out on a journalistic tour which serves as the occasion for vivid pictures of the economic and social questions which have fermented Europe since the war."

"Rain", the supreme dramatic triumph of the 1922-1923 New York season, is not to be considered as a pleasant play. On the contrary, certain developments are distinctly unpleasant. But the experts call it "big" drama. Burns Mantle says "It cuts deep into the life from which it is sliced, as "Anna Christie" did, and it is equally true to itself."

Jeanne Eagles will appear in "Rain" at the American during this season.

COLLEGE DRAMATICS

By Theo Fehlig

A group of one-act plays, under the direction of Mrs. Anna McClain Sankey, was presented by the Dramatic Art Class of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., Monday, November 25, 1924 in the College Auditorium. The three plays were "The Cast Rehearses" by Alice L. Tildesley; "Never Again" by Stuart Walker, and "Betty's Ancestors" by E. M. Hunting.

"The Cast Rehearses" was splendidly interpreted by Misses Margaret Peters, Louise Murphy, Virginia McClung, Adele Burkhart and Virginia Stephens. The clever work of Miss Peters and Miss Burkhart is deserving of especial commendation.

A trio novelty sketch was presented in "Nevertheless". The dramatic ability of the three players, Misses Margaret Reddin, Virginia Walsh and Mary McNamara was evinced in "flying colors".

"Betty's Ancestors", a quaint play, was well interpreted by a wonderfully chosen cast. The talent of the heroine, Miss O'Connor is praiseworthy, and particular tribute is forthcoming to Misses Clements, Barnicle, O'Connor, Fogg, Mowrey, Hix, Abel and Barthel. The flock of comedy was ably supported by Misses Dauwalter, Bopp, Karcher and Seifert.

The plays are considered by many to be the best ever produced by the Dramatic Department.

The stage was quickly and effectively changed under the direction of the new stage managers, Misses Jean Murphy, McDermott, Donoghue, Stuckstede and Carr.

A musical program was rendered during the intermissions by the recently arranged orchestra of the College.

Reporter Speaks

(continued from page 1)

"A cub-reporter is first assigned to get pictures. A woman four times divorced and a man three times a murderer are not willing to have their photographs in the paper. So visions of becoming a star reporter over night are not easily realized.

There will be no regular symphony concerts by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra this week, the fifth, and next regular pair falling on December 12 and 13. At these concerts Michel Gusikoff and Max Steindel will make their annual appearance as soloists with the orchestra. ---Globe.

THE WEB

Volume 1

January 13, 1925

Number 6

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	M. Tancred
City Editor	D. Monarch
Sport Editor	H. McNamara
News Editor	V. Walsh
Circulation Manager	M. Hennage
Reporters
L. O'Connor	G. Barthel
M. Tancred	D. Monarch
V. Barnicle
Copy Readers
H. Karcher	V. Stephens

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas Party of Webster College was given in the college dining room and recreation hall, Thursday, December 18, at 6:45 P. M.

After the banquet which was served to members of the faculty and to the student body, the guests were entertained by the Juniors of Webster College. The program, consisting of readings by Misses Lucinda Clements, Jaanita Abel and Virginia McClung, was followed by the presentation of gifts to the faculty and Freshmen.

Faculty members present were: Fathers

"Opportunity knocks but once at each man's door" is an adage often quoted but seldom analyzed. Opportunity is so hazy, referred to that it has assured a magical coloring and lost much of its utility of meaning. To the mind of the average person the word suggests fortune waiting just around the corner to smile on a lucky individual who appears at the opportune moment; or the term conveys the idea that somewhere there is a golden key which will unlock for its possessor a mine of treasure. The locale of opportunity seems to be at the foot of the rainbow and the grasping of opportunity has become akin to "Chasing rainbows".

But opportunity is no abstract term; it means a mind quick to see the value of details and sufficiently efficient to mold circumstances to a certain end. To the greatest number of people it is not an event or an unusual happening but time itself which is their opportunity. By serving and utilizing spare minutes we are preparing our own way towards success; and particularly in this lies the college girl's opportunity.

EXPRESSION RECITAL

An expression recital, under the direction of Anna McClain Sankey, was given Wednesday, December 10, 1924 in the College Auditorium of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo. The program was presented by the private expression pupils of the dramatic department.

The pupils who gave the recital were the Misses Virginia McClung, Mary Haberl, Lucinda Clements, Elizabeth Daubalter, Pearl Farrel, Janita Abel, Genevieve Barthel, Dorothy Dahmus, Violet Wilkinson, and Ola B. Harris.

The recital is an annual event at Webster College.

F. V. Corcoran, J. P. Donovan, J. W. Conroy, James O'Malley, Charles Souvay, all of Kendrick Seminary; Mrs. Anna McClain Sankey, Mrs. D. Dillon, Misses Lucy Reynolds, Marcelle Prevost and Katherine Skarry.

TRAINS DELAYED

The storm which descended on St. Louis and the surrounding country Thursday, December 18, created havoc among the holiday plans made by the students of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo.

The railroad officials announced that the trains due in from the east, west and north had not been heard from. The newspapers reported St. Louis completely isolated from the outside world, its telephone and telegraph lines temporarily useless as a result of the worst storm of the winter.

However the determination of the Webster College students to start for their respective homes immediately was not the least dampened. The exodus began Friday afternoon, December 19, at 4 o'clock. Out into a snow and ice covered world the girls tramped, sometimes in crowds of 5 or 6, other times a furred figure ventured out alone. Weighted by hat trunks and heavy valises, the long wait for the Manchester street car was particularly tiresome and cold. The street cars crept, halted and then crept for another block or so. Many of the girls were 2 hours riding from the College on Lockwood Avenue, Webster Groves, to the Union Station on 14th Street. At the station the weary Information Bureau informed them that their trains would not be called for hours.

A sapper of hot bouillon, buttered toast, potato chips and salad was served in the College dining room to those girls whose trains were not expected to leave until 7:00 or 7:30. The Christmas spirit

(continued on page 3)

BROMO QUININE-----
FOUR AT A TIME

"If one is good, four should put it over right now" said one of our sweet girl graduates in a strenuous desire to cure a particular cold in less time than it takes to tell, bravely swallowing four huge white pills.

Logical...yes! but one should consider.

Lucille Manning, a student in the Academy, now an established satellite in the world of new ideas, stood calling loudly to her playmate at the foot of the stair Sunday night. When severely reprimanded by one of the sisters, she proceeded a note higher in double quick time: "Hank! Hank! Hank! Hank!" When growing confidential upon further scolding Lucille related quite a few most interesting incidents of her Christmas vacation..... Kind of rough, weren't they?

As the conversation grew more and more apart from the subject in question, it became evident that Lucille was not her old self. Sister hastily took her to the Infirmary and after untiring efforts the Infirmaryman succeeded in checking the babble long enough to insert a thermometer. Lucille was in the throes of a raging fever! A doctor was summoned immediately but he was unable to get his patient to eulogize on any thing but her boy friends and the cave man style in Owensboro. Nothing could be done except induce sleep; and when Lucille woke at 2:00 A. M. normal and still, she was much surprised at the anxiety she had caused.

Another cross-examination ensued and now my friends::

Be not blind to the ill effects of Bromo-Quinine taken by fours!!!! For this is what Lucille Manning did, hoping by this dash of extravagance to cure a cold four times as quickly.

Lucille is well on the road to recovery but she has drawn quiet and solitude as her lot these next few days...Doctor's orders.

Be careful Lucille; and we might add:
"For all kinds of ills
Take D. McIntyre's pills.
But never try four
For cross examination is a bore
When you've been skating
All the day before!!!!!!!"

FRESHMEN DEFEAT SOPHOMONES AT BASKET BALL

The first basket ball game of the season at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., was played Wednesday night, December 17, at 7:00 o'clock at Idle Hour, the College gymnasium.

The sophomores challenged the freshmen and one of the famous yells was:

"In the classroom

On the field
Freshies, freshies,
You must yield.

However the legal freshman root-ers cheered lustily from the beginning until the end of the game:

"Freshies will shine tonight,
Freshies will shine"

AND THEY DID!

The score at the end of the first half was 10-0 in favor of the freshmen; the close of the game found the freshies leading with a score of 21-7.

LECTURE

Bishop Van Boeck of Patna, India, will give a lecture on Gandhi, the Indian leader, at 3 o'clock, Tuesday, January 13, in the Webster College Auditorium, Webster Groves, Mo.

CAMPUS NEWS

Miss Marcelle Prevost, member of the Webster College faculty, was a guest over the week-end at the home of Miss Mary Joe Averill, 6018 Clemens.

Miss Genevieve Wahrer, of Fort Madison, Iowa, is the guest of Miss Gertrude Wahrer, member of the Norinix Hall faculty.

Miss Dorothy Monarch, of Webster College, was the guest of Miss Theresa Shea, 5962 Horton Place, over the week-end.

Miss Mary Tancred, sophomore at Webster College, spent Sunday spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Alfred Wade, 4193 Shaw.

A group of Webster College girls attended Pavlova's performance of her latest ballet "Don Quixote" at the Odeon Wednesday evening, January 7.

Miss Dorothy Venneswitz, who has been detained at home for the last few days, returned Sunday night to Webster College from Fairfield, Ill.

Miss Mildred Hennage, who is taking ear treatments from a Tulsa specialist, has been forced to abandon the hope of returning to Webster College before the end of January.

The following girls were the guests of friends in St. Louis over Saturday and Sunday: Misses Florence Pitt Smith, Lucienne Iberon, Helen Pogg, Jannita Abell, Pearl Kappel, Virginia McClung, Louise Bok, Virginia Stephens, Rose Binderwahl, Margie Reddin, Virginia Walsh, Mary McManara.

(continued)

seemed to emanate over the room from the brightly colored decorations which had been hung for the College Christmas Banquet of Thursday night. The red candle-light threw shadows in the corners and made the silver tinsel gleam and shine. The talk among the girls was very merry as each one predicted what she would be doing the next night. "I'll be at a dance", "I'm going to sleep until doomsday", "I'll see Tom", "I'll have a date with Dick", "I'll be with Joe", were snatches heard from the general conversations.

Taxi horns were heard at the College entrance. There was a bustle while wraps were donned and luggage selected from the pile of bags by the door. Happy cries of "I'll see you January 6th" rang through the building and the girls who were scheduled to take still later trains wished their friends "Merry Christmas" and made their farewells.

Those girls who expected their trains to leave at 10:00 and 10:30 arrived at the station to find that they could not possibly get out of St. Louis before morning.

In the corner of the station they saw the same group of Webster girls who had so cheerfully called "I'll see you January 6th", dejectedly sitting on a sad row of hat trunks with no hope of their trains being called for hours.

Miss Dorothy Ann McBride, student at Webster College, living in Fort Smith, Ark., planned to leave St. Louis Friday night at 8:30 and arrive in Fort Smith Saturday morning at 10:10. However she left St. Louis Saturday afternoon at 1:30 and arrived in Ft. Smith Sunday night at 12:30. There was no diner on the train; icicles were melted to furnish drinking water; and there was an allotment of one blanket to a berth.

Misses Margaret Peters, Helen McGuire, and Pearl Broderick were scheduled to arrive in Sterling, Ill., Saturday at 9:00 A. M. but did not arrive until 12:30 Saturday night.

Miss Elizabeth Dauwalter, a freshman at Webster College, has the only kindly word for the wintry storm. She was expected to arrive in Booneville, Mo., at 2:00 A. M. Saturday morning but the delay in travel enabled her to sleep until 8:00 A. M. and consequently saved her and her family much inconvenience.

Conservatory of Music
Presents Program

The Loretto Conservatory of Music of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., presented a musicale December 15, 1924 at 7:30 P. M. in the College Auditorium. The Sisters, students and friends were invited to attend.

The program was as follows:

- Romance Op. 30. LaForge
- Dorothy Ann McBride
- Valse Arabesque Lack
- Annie Ruth Milligan
- Caprice Op. 56. Chaminade
- Laura Archer
- Lucia di Lammermoor Leschetizky
- Marguerite Barthel
- Liebesfreud No.1, Kreisler
- Priere Op. 49, Hubay
- Violin---Catherine Hazel
- Country Gardens, No.22, Grainger
- Rose Bindewald
- March de Concert, Op.30 Hollaender
- Violet Barnicle
- On Wings of Song Mendelssohn-Liszt
- March Wind, Op. 39 MacDowall
- Lucille Roof
- Vocal Solo-
- Hush Song Nevin,
- Blossom Time Cornell
- Margaret Tiernon
- Valse Chromatique, No.5, Godard
- Katherine Kay
- Concert Etude, Op. No.36, MacDowall
- Dorothy Monarch
- Vocal Solo-
- Sonny O'Mine Moore
- Trees Raschbach
- Lillian O'Connor
- Accompanists-
- Lucienne Iberger D. Monarch
- Lucille Roof

* * * * *

DEATH

* SISTER MARY CLEMENT MALONE of Loretto Order, Friday, January 9, 1925, at 1:30 p. m., dear sister of John L. Malone of Madison, Ill., R. L. Malone of Kansas City, Mo., and J. W. Malone of Dallas, Tex., Susan, Ralph, James and Lattie Smith (nee Malone) of Raywick, Ky.
* Remains in state at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., until Sunday. Interment at Mother House, Loretto Kentucky.
* * * * *

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A vocal recital by Miss Florence Streit will be given on Monday night, January 12, in the Auditorium of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo. She will be accompanied by Miss V. Williams. Miss Streit has been accorded unstinted praise from St. Louis audiences. She sang with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra two weeks ago.

Room 124 is now open for use of students of Webster College to read various College Exchanges.

(continued on page 4)

(continued)

The Senior Prom, the annual formal dance of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., will be given this year on January 29 at the Woman's Club on Lindell Blvd. The Seniors hope to make the Prom more brilliant than ever before and earnestly ask for the co-operation of each and every student.

Girls! The success of the Prom means much for the success and increase of your school. Are you doing your share to make it "go over"?

The final examinations for the past semester will begin Monday, January 19. The schedule for the week is as follows:

Monday, January 19th.

9:00-12:00 Religion
1:00- 4:00 English 3
French 1
Spanish 1
Ethics

Tuesday, January 20th.

9:00-12:00 Scripture
Biology
Chemistry 1
Shtd. 2
1:00- 4:00 Physics
Spanish 1
History 10
D. Science

Wednesday, January 21st.

9:00-12:00 English 6
Latin 1
Latin 2
Latin 6,9
Math. 2
Shtd. 1
1:00-4:00 English 1
Logic
Botany

Thursday, January 22nd.

9:00-4:00 12:00 Greek 1
Greek 3
Math. 5
Latin 3
Edu. 4
Chem 6
1:00- 4:00 Edu. 1
French 3, 4
Spanish 3
French 5

Friday, January 23rd.

9:00-12:00 Math. 7
Hist. 18
Chem. 2
1:00-4:00 Eng. 17
Hist. 17

Eng. 5, Friday, January 16
Eng. 14a, b, c, Wed. Jan. 14
Eng. 10, Mon. January 12.
Greek 3 (first half) Jan. 13

Registration Day is January 26. The entire student body must re-register on that day. Schedule cards will be issued on ~~that~~ day be filled out and submitted to Registrar on Registration Day.

The new semester begins January 27. To each and everyone the Web extends wishes for a successful semester.

A class in millinery will be opened next semester. The course consists of twenty lessons.

The second publication of the Loretine may be had the Friday before the new semester. Please to call for your copy in Room 124.

Watch for changes and improvements in the next issue of the Loretine!

CHALIAPIN TO SING IN ST. LOUIS SOON AT SHUBERT-JEFFERSON

Announcement was made Sunday that the Chicago Civic Opera Company has been engaged for three performances in this city. They will be given at the Shubert-Herrerson Theater, on Friday night, March 6, and on Saturday afternoon and evening, March 7.

At the matinee performance Feodor Chaliapin and Edith Mason will have the leading roles in Arrigo Boito's "Mefistofele," a version of Goethe's "Faust". This will mark the first operatic appearance of the eminent Russian basso in this city.

Miss Marcelle Prevost, French teacher at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., last year a Post Graduate at the University of Paris, says that when Chaliapin was in France in 1923 his appearance was postponed 5 times because enthusiastic audiences at other places on the continent would not permit him to leave on scheduled time.

AT THE SHOWS

Missouri....."Golden Bed", Lillian Rich
Empress....."The Fool"
Grand Central.... Thomas Meighan
Orpheum..... Dorothy Jardon, Prima
Donna, Mrs. Leslie Carter, Stage Star.
American....."Merton of the Movies,"
Glenn Hunter

CROSS WORD PUZZLITIS

A prize of $2.00 is offered by Misses Margie Reddin, Margaret Peters and Virginia Walsh to any girl who hands in an original cross word puzzle and who solves the puzzle posted in Assembly A .

THE WEB

Volume 1

February 5, 1925

Number 7

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor A. Burkart
City Editor G. Block
Sport Editor V. Barnicle
News Editor M. Shallcross

Reporters

J. Stirtz T. Gesell
L. O'Connor

Copy Readers

R. Smith C. Dziatsko

Editorial

Last September the students of Webster College enthusiastically welcomed a course in Journalistic Writing, which was added to the curriculum and was to be under the direction of Mrs. G. Dillon.

The class is one of the largest in school and has become one of the most interesting and profitable. Mrs. Dillon proved to be an ambitious teacher and anxious for the development of the class in the field of writing.

It was through her efforts that "The Web" was launched and started on its career. By her kindly criticism and advice it has become the official semi-monthly newspaper of the College.

But best of all was the thrill Mrs. Dillon gave the girls when she took them for a visit through the Globe-Democrat Building. Here they saw in practice what had been "preached" to them. With members of the Globe-Democrat staff as guides the class was shown every department, asking questions and learning every detail of newspaper business.

So it was that news of her change of residence came as a great disappointment to the Faculty, members of the class, and the college girls who had learned to know her and admire her.

But having as her substitute Miss Betty Johnson we are sure of success under her capable guidance.

Welcome Miss Johnson to our Webster College!

The Web wishes to announce that a "Forlorn Love" column will appear in the next issue for the proper guidance of the students of W. C. having heart problems. Give your questions to the Managing Editor.

The Formal Prom

The annual Prom of the students of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., was given January 29, at the Woman's Club.

The Grand March was played at ninety-fourty and was led by Mr. Harry Mc Clain and Mrs. Anna Mc Clain Sankey. During the march souvenirs with the College seal stamped in gold, were distributed. Each man received a leather card case, and each girl received a leather coin purse.

The program dances were than started and continued until eleven o'clock when refreshments were served after which dancing was resumed.

For three delightful, yet-all-too short, hours seventy charmingly attired young women and their escorts danced to the music of the Bellerive Orchestra.

The chaperones were Mrs. Paul Bakewell, Sr.; Mrs. Anna Mc Ckaub Sankey; Mrs. James P. Mc Menamy and the misses Marcelle Prevost; Lucy Reynolds; and Kathyrine Skarry.

The faculty and students of Webster College, Webster Groves, fully appreciated the honor conferred upon them by a visit and address from His Grace Bishop Van Hoeck of Patna, India, Tuesday afternoon, January 13, at 3 o'clock.

For twenty-three years His Grace has carried on successful missionary work in this country and in his address to his audience he explained in a most interesting manner the customs of the natives there who seem so strange to us.

His Grace then cleared up our vague ideas of the Ghandi movement by giving us the correct views of this uprising.

His Grace's visit inspired us with a new interest in Missionary Work and he may be assured of our prayers for God's blessing upon this most worthy cause.

A new member has been added to the Culinary Force of Webster College, Webster Groves. Jesse Shackelford a Colored chef formerly employed at the Hotel Statler and Principia Academy, has been serving the faculty and College students with meals expertly prepared. Jesse is the handsome husband of Middie, another employee of Webster College.

Miss Streit Gives Recital

Miss Florence Streit, lyric soprano, gave a recital in the auditorium of Webster College, Monday evening, January 26, at 8 o'clock. Miss Streit, who formerly was a soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, was accompanied by Miss V. Williams.

Miss Streit's program consisted of some very difficult and beautiful songs, some of which were Spanish, German, French and Italian.

Miss Streit has studied voice for five years in Europe. Her charming personality and splendid voice training probably account for the pleasure she afforded her audience at her recital.

Miss Streit's program was as follows:

1. Elsa's Dream - from Lohengrin
2. (a) Obstinatation
(b) Barceuse
(c) Elegie
(d) Ultima Canzone
3. (a) Voi chete Sapete
(b) Ma li't Batteau
(c) Mah Lindy Lou
(d) Creale Love Song
4. (a) Trees
(b) Christ went up into the hills
(c) Morning Hymn
5. One fine day - from Butterfly

Major Stinson with four color sergeants, representatives of the American Legion from Jefferson Barracks visited Webster College on Friday morning, January 30 at 11:30 o'clock. Major Stinson addressed the faculty and student body in the college auditorium on "How to Pay Respect to the Flag." He explained the significance of the colors of the flag, how they inspired the dying soldier, and what they ought to mean to every true American.

Major Stinson suggested that Webster College erect a flag on the campus and he offered to come out and dedicate it. His suggestion was enthusiastically received and will be carried out in the Spring.

The week of January 19-23, inclusive, was devoted to final semester examinations at Webster College. Sister M. Louise, Dean, reports that the students, as a whole, did exceptionally good work that past four and a half months. She also said that the grades are very satisfactory.

"The Music Box Revue" will be presented at the American Theater Sunday February 8 to the 15.

Mission News

Twenty girls from Webster College chaperoned by Miss Esther Moore, attended an entertainment at St. Louis University Auditorium, Sunday evening at eight o'clock, given by the Claver Mission Unit for the benefit of St. Elizabeth's negro high school of St. Louis.

The feature picture of the program, "Parish Priest" was followed with a solo by James Clark of St. Louis University.

A motion picture featuring Harold Lloyd in "Hot Water" completed the program.

The initiation of children to the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, who are graduating from the parochial schools, was discussed at Webster College, Sunday afternoon, February 1 by a committee of the C. S. M. C. There are about 175 children who belong to the Junior unit who are to be admitted to the senior unit. The initiation is to be a large affair. Those in charge hope to have it take place at the Municipal Theatre in Forest Park some time in May. Over 500 children will participate. Rev. G. B. Donnelly, S. J. will be director.

Lecture at St. Louis University.

"The Bolsheviki Persecution of Christianity" was the subject of a lecture given by Captain Francis McCulloch, in the St. Louis University Auditorium, Sunday night, January 25.

Captain McCulloch was a newspaper correspondent in Moscow and St. Petersburg during the late war and has spent most of his life since 1907 in Russia and Siberia.

He attended the Famous Cheplac trial in 1922; gaining entrance as an interpreter, and has seen and heard Lenin and Trotsky on a number of occasions. Misses Esther Moore and Lillian O'Connor Attended.

We are glad to satisfy the curiosity of Reverend Father Conroy's American History class. The three girls who were so fortunate to make the high grade of 97% in the examination, are Misses Louise Murphy, Gladys O'Connor, and Ervilla Hix.

Quoting the Dean: "Every day in every way the skirts get shorter and shorter."

Since the ground hog did not see his shadow, get ready your spring duds.

CAMPUS NEWS

Miss Betty Johnson, a feature writer on the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, has been added to the faculty of Webster College, Webster Groves. Miss Johnson is taking the place of Mrs. Geddes Dillon, instructor of Journalism, who moved to Washington where her husband, Mr. Daniel Dillon, has newspaper interest.

Miss Johnson is a graduate of the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri, and is a newspaper woman of great ability.

Miss Marguerite Ely, a feature writer of Women's political news on the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is expected to visit the Journalism Class of Webster College Monday, February 9, at 9:30 that morning.

Miss Ely was sent by the Globe-Democrat to cover the Republican and Democratic National Conventions last Spring. She is a capable newspaper woman and has had many interesting experiences since she began her career. She will tell the Journalism Class some of her experiences and also some of the opportunities open to women in journalistic fields.

Forty Hours devotion will take place at Webster College in the Chapel of All Saints, beginning Tuesday February 17, and will close Thursday morning with Mass.

Miss Esther Stampher, 6301 Delmar Blve., St. Louis is one of the new students who is attending Webster College this semester. Miss Stampher, who is a cousin of Jayne Ledwidge, also a student at Webster College, was graduated from Soldan High School in January.

Rev. G. B. Donnelly, S. J. and Mr. Charles Hadden, S. J. of St. Louis University were guests at Webster College Thursday morning, January 29. The two visitors honored the Athletic students by visiting Idle Hour at 11:30 and watching them perform. Later Mr. Hadden spoke to the entire student body during dinner in behalf of the negro missions in St. Louis. He urged all the students to attend the benefit picture show given at St. Louis University Auditorium Sunday evening, February 1.

MILLINERY NEWS

A new department in Millinery has been opened at Webster College this semester. Classes are under the direction of Sister Marie Anthony and are held on Monday from 9 to 3 and on Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 5. Anyone who wishes to take Millinery may still register for it.

Miss Violet Dames, of St. Louis, is having a "ripping" good time in her class of Millinery at Webster College. (Ripping her hat.)

Miss Lucy Reynolds, Athletic Instructor at Webster College, announces that after many struggles and hard work her Easter hat is almost finished, which she is making in the Millinery Class. Miss Reynolds is one of those faithful souls who believe in preparedness.

From the millinery department also comes the news that Miss Helen McGuire of Sterling, Ill. tatted a derby for her father which turned out very lovely. This week some of the girls are working on men's folding derbies, vest pocket size.

FRESHMEN VICTORY

The Freshmen basket-ball team of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo. defeated Webster High School team 15 to 9 at the Webster High School Gym. January 14 at 3:00 P. M. The Webster High School Coach was referee for the first half and Miss Reynolds, Webster College Coach was referee for the last half.

Members of the team are Misses Harriet Averill; jumping center; Carol Dziatsko. Margaret Leonard, running center; Celeste Block and Virginia McClung, forwards; Gene Corcoran and Pauline Schecklee, guards. Hurrah for the Freshies!!

NEWS FROM CHINA

"HanYang", a magazine of the Loretta activities in China, is published monthly by the Sisters of Loretto. The magazine contains many clever sketches of Chinese life and children. Yearly subscription is 60¢. Those interested may see Sister Eustacia.

A group of four plays will be presented in the Webster College Auditorium, Thursday evening, Feb. 12 at 8 o'clock by the Dramatic Art class under the direction of Mrs. Anna Mc Clain Sankey.

The titles of the plays and the girls taking part in them are as follows:

"A Fan and Two Candlesticks," with Marguerite Barthel, Kathryn Kay and Gertrude Prendergast.

"A Rumpus on Olympus" with Lucinda Clements, Elizabeth Dauwalter, Helen Fogg, Ervilla Hix, Virginia McClung, Louise Murphy and Virginia Stephens.

"A Fallen Idol" with Helen Hadsell Frances Kohl, Dorothy Ann McBride and Rosalie Siefert.

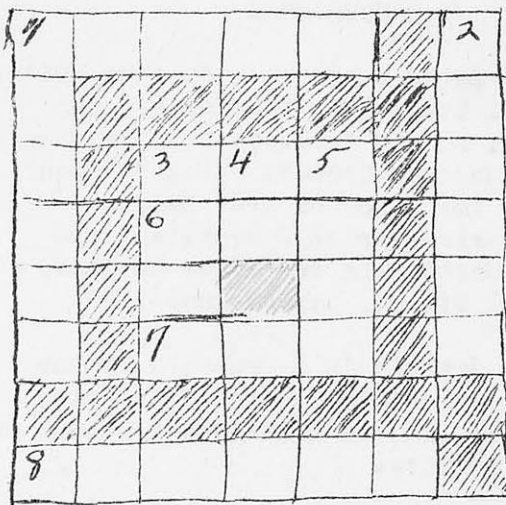

"Saving Samuel" with Juanita Abell and Pearl Farrell.

The Webster College Orchestra will accompany these plays with the following selections:

- Desert Caravan
- Overture-Home Circle
- Marchita
- Dear One

Members of this orchestra are Pearl Broderick and Louise Eck- Drums; Rose Bindewald, Adele Burkart, Ann DeLay, Ola B. Harris, Catherine Hazel and Margaret Tiernon- Violins; Annie Ruth Milligan- Orchestra Bells; Tommy Walsh - Cornet.

This performance is open to the public and tickets are being sold for fifty cents.

Horizontal

1. A Bambino
3. Rodent
6. Academic Beauty
7. Famous Drummer of W.C.
8. Webster College Martyr.

Vertical

1. Man chaser
2. High Chair Pest
3. Another Pavolva
4. Only man in puzzle
5. Our Psychologist

Note: Girls find your own names in this puzzle.

Submit your solution to the editor of the WEB and if it is correct get a REWARD.

The solution of this puzzle will be published in the next issue. Watch for it!

Buses are now being run on Big Bend Road. They go as far as City Limits where one may get a Peoples Motorbus which runs to Twelfth Street.

Webster Buses run every 15 minutes and the fare is 10¢.

Bright sayings of Smart Children.

Rose B. had been taken to the play grounds with a friend. There was a pool there and Rose went in Wading.

When she came back to Webster College she told Juanita she had a wonderful time. Juanita asked her what she had done and Rose said, "I were in waving".

Vidy a teacher one year hence.
Teacher: "You'll have to stay with me for an hour after school closes."
Dickie: "I don't care on my own account but ain't you afraid you'll get talked about?"

Ohio College Girls ask Equal Rights Tiddin, Ohio.--Hcidelberg U. Co-Eds today demanded:

The right to choose their own "Dates"
The right to pay their own way to me and parties.

The right to stay out as late as men and escape punishment.

A joint Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. committee was appointed to investigate these alleged inequalities and in a preliminary report said:

"There is an unjust inequality between the men and the women. Men may take the initiative in choosing their friends of the opposite sex; women may not. Men are disproportionately burdened with financial responsibility for entertainment. Women are punished for violation of rules; their male companions go free."
We won't do that will we girls?

Is this (WEB) all right?--A la Dumcan Sist

THE WEB

Volume 1

February 19, 1925

Number 8

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	L. O'Connor
City Editor	C. Block
Sport Editor	V. Barnicle
News Editor	N. Shalucross

REPORTERS

V. Walsh	M. Hennage
A. Tuchschnidt	M. Tancred
L. Archer	T. Fehlig
Circulation Manager	V. Barnicle

EDITORIAL

In the rush for knowledge of what Genius has said, or done, or written, it is the most natural thing for the student to forget the man himself. We are all inclined to think of the author, playwright, historian, or philosopher, only in connection with text books. He is so many words in an encyclopedia; he is the two or three words which come between "by" and "author of" on the fly-leaf of his latest publication. He lives in another world and is remotely related to the human race. He has no personal side as far as we are concerned. This charge could have been placed against us with justice until the afternoon of February 9, when Mr. Louis Wetmore gave us a brief glimpse of the personal side of Shaw, Wells, Chesterton, and Belloc. The title of the lecture "Heresic and Orthodox in Modern Literature" is too forbidding. We would prefer "The other side of Genius". But we shall not quibble over that: "A rose by an other name would be as sweet".

As a result of the character sketches Mr. Wetmore drew for us we are convinced that some Genius is intensely human. We are willing to wager that never again will any Webster girl think of Belloc, Chesterton, Shaw, or Wells in the same moment she thinks of formidable volumes. Rather will she recall Shaw in the Irishman's attitude toward England; Wells when she sees the Cross-Word Puzzle, and Radio Fiend's interest; Chesterton in the absent minded friend; Belloc in the keenly alive man, living "with five senses".

The Web, and we daresay every Webster girl,---wishes to thank Mother Edith for Mr. Wetmore's delightful talk.

February 13 fell on Friday; March 13 will also come on Friday. What do you superstitious people think about that? Ask Father Conroy!

WINTER LORETTINE ISSUED

Volume XIX, Number 1 of the Loretto the quarterly publication of the Students of Webster College was distributed last week. The first number contains a fitting tribute to our beloved Sister Clement. This is followed by an article by Rev. Joseph P. Donovan, C. M. There are a few essays and one long one; two short stories and several poems. The Departments---Exchange, Alumnae, and Just Among Ourselves---are well handled.

Since the last issue there has been some changes in the Staff. Miss Genevive Barthol resigned and Miss Margaret Tiernon was elected to fill the position, with Miss Helen Healy as Assistant Advertising Manager.

The next number will appear sometime in April.

Retreat and Forty Hours' Devotion

The annual retreat of the students of Webster College will take place February 25 to 28. Rev. Martin O'Malley, C. M. who conducted a very successful retreat for the Sisters of Loretto at Webster College four years ago, will be Retreat Master. Beginning Thursday, February 26, the Forty Hours' Devotion will open in the Chapel of All Saints and will close with the retreat at Holy Mass on Saturday morning.

Students Present Program

The Dramatic Art Department of Webster College presented a group of one-act plays under the direction of Mrs. Anna McClain Sankoy, February 12. Between the plays the Loretto Conservatory Orchestra furnished musical selections.

The Department is at work on the following plays; Abu San of Old Japan, which will be given Sunday March 15; A Far-away Princess, and The Old Romance, to be given Sunday March 22.

Students of Webster College who ride on the Manchester car during rainy weather are advised to take umbrellas. If the roof of the car leaks the umbrella should be raised. Onlookers will not criticize, even though it is anything but prosaic for three people to sit unconcernedly under a purple parasol. For full particulars ask Dorothy Vennowitz.

Miss Marguerite Ely of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, addressed the Journalism class of Webster College on February 12.

Miss Ely told the Young Ladies that the newspaper field was somewhat limited to women. The best way to obtain experience for Metropolitan Journalism is through a small town paper.

She explained that the personality of the reporter must be completely submerged. That in meeting a queen or a murderer his attitude must be the same.

Miss Ely has covered many political meetings. She was sent by her paper to cover the Democratic National Convention in N. Y. last June.

She finds that women in politics think that opinion is a personal thing not to be given for publication. "They do not seem to understand that it is the opinion of the individual that makes politics," she said.

In her opinion however no men have proved themselves quite as parliamentary as women in the conventions.

Of all the tasks assigned to her Musical Concerts seem to be the most difficult Miss Ely explained. This task in newspaper work requires more study than any other. To criticize one must have resourcefulness in expression, one must be able to gauge the impression of the audience as well as his own impression.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

The Editor of Lovelorn Department is well-qualified to fill her position. She has finished the Correspondence course given by the Doris Blake School of How to Advise Lovers and has come to Webster College to complete her training in Father Donovan's Ethics Class.

WEB WIT

Daily program at Webster College:
Up betimes at 8 of the morning and took a nap until noon. Slept all afternoon. Spent the evening in slumber.

O. O. McIntyre.

Motorist Hart: Hey, you oughta look out!

Victim: Wassa matter, you gonna back up?

Lafayette Lyre.

I'm a student at the University, Madame Vere de Vere, and I would like you to tell my fortune.

Well, you have just written home for more money...you would rather go to a dance than to a lecture hall... you are habitually late to your 8 o'clock classes...and, you are a high school graduate.

Wonderful! How could you ever have known it!

Sister Miriam: Did Caesar win that battle?

Helen Healy: Of course, Caesar wrote the book. College Humor

Miss Lucy Reynolds, athletic director of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., who has been ill for the past two weeks returned Monday February 16 to her classes. Her gymnastic work and basket-ball were continued during her absence by Misses Gladys O'Connor and Harriet Averill, both students of Webster College.

An inter-collegiate basket-ball game is scheduled for the week of the 26th between the Freshman and Upper-classmen of Webster. The date has not been set.

The St. Louis University's basket-ball team won a victory from De Paul University in the High School Gymnasium of St. Louis U. February 6. The game appeared to be a close contest in the first quarter.

In the second quarter Dan Savage's crew showed more speed and gained the lead on De Paul. The visitors put up a game fight but were unable to penetrate through the five-man defense.

Again at the start of the second half the opponents started in with hard fighting. The Billikens continued their scoring and left the visitors behind.

Throughout the game St. Louis showed accuracy in shooting at the basket. At the close of the second half the score was 31-17.

AT THE SHOWS

New Grand Central-----New Toys
Missouri-----Too Many Kisses
Love's State--Land of Syncopation
Jefferson--De Wolf Hopper Musical Co.
Orpheum-----All Feature Bill
American---The Second Mrs. Tanqueray
Ethel Barrymore
WEBSTER COLLEGE-----LENT

The width of Miss Violet Barnicle's smile will be extended to show the gold tooth which she expects to get next week.

Them Days is Gone Forever!

How could Father Donovan be so hard-hearted as to tell the Ethics Class that there is no Santa Clause? Some of the girls are old enough to understand but from now on "Miss Grace's" Christmas will not be the same! Merry Xmas Grace!

You don't realize the work we do
To try to push this here Web through
If work you won't as you all say
Get down on your knees for us and pray
To thyme with our motto we need the word bust

For we live by the Rule In God we Trust
Poem written by Niff Naw
Punctated by Bees Winks
Typographical errors by Ibid.

Misses Anne Delay and Grace Cantwell were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Winton J. Peterson of 3883 Shaw Ave., St. Louis, last Sunday.

Mrs. T. Sullivan of St. Louis was the guest of Miss Elizabeth Dauwalter last week-end.

The new students at Webster College are; Misses Blanche Alyea, St. Louis; Alferda Barnikel, Indianapolis; and Esther Stampfer, St. Louis.

Miss Helen Karcher, a Sophomore at Webster College, returned to her home in Tulsa, Okla., where her mother is seriously ill. Miss Karcher finished the first semester work.

The new drug store in Old Orchard is an added expense to Webster students.

Several Webster College students attended the St. Louis University Prom given Tuesday night at the Statler Hotel.

Members of the Senior Class are the recipients of prayer-books containing the Communion Devotions, gifts of Rev. Joseph P. Donovan, C. M., Professor of Ethics at the College.

Miss Mary McNamara, a member of the Sophomore Class of Webster College, is recovering from an operation, at St. Joseph's hospital in St. Charles Mo. Miss McNamara expects to go to Keokuk, Iowa, after she leaves the hospital. The best wishes of the entire College are extended to her and we hope for a visit from Miss McNamara soon.

It will be interesting for those who are not cross-word puzzle friends, to know that several volumes have been added to the Webster College library. The list contains books of Science, Psychology, History, Education, Law, Literature, Essays, Public Speaking and Fiction. One of the most interesting additions is the Pocket University Library which, if read for twenty minutes a day, gives one a broad literary background. The library contains more than ten thousand volumes at present.

Sister M. Edwarda, our librarian, would appreciate it greatly if the cross-word fiend, who appropriated her latin dictionary would be kind enough to return it. Sister would also appreciate the return of other books missing from the library.

Pay your Sodality dues. We need flowers for the altar.

At the Freshman class meeting held Friday, February 13, in Assembly A, Miss Elizabeth Dauwalter was unanimously re-elected President. Miss Dauwalter was elected President in September for the first semester and the class showed its appreciation of the class-spirit of Miss Dauwalter by re-electing her for the remainder of the year.

Other officers are Miss Celeste Block, Vice-President, Cathryn Hummert, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Corrigan, treasurer, who will hold office until the end of the term.

The Faculty and students of Webster College wish to extend their heartfelt sympathy to Gertrude Prendergast in the loss of her father, Edward J. Prendergast. He died Monday afternoon at his home in Baden, Mo., after a long illness.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 9:30 at Mount Carmel Church.

The Prendergast family may be assured of our prayers and masses for the happy repose of his soul.

MUSIC NOTES

The concert given by Fritz Kreisler, the famous violinist, in the Odeon, Thursday, February 5, was attended by several Webster students, chaperoned by Miss Marcelle Prevost. The program, with the exception of four numbers, consisted of the artist's own arrangements. The enduring popularity of Kreisler is proved by the fact that though he played in St. Louis last year, the Odeon was packed to the limit.

John McCormack, the Irish tenor, who was to appear in concert at the Coliseum, on February 16, is ill in Miami, Florida, and will not resume his tour of the States for two weeks at the least. His St. Louis date has been set as March 24 and tickets purchased for the first date will be honored on that night.

The Chicago Civic Opera Company will be in St. Louis at the Schubert-Jefferson theatre March 6 and 7, and will present three operas, two in Italian and one in German. La Gioconda will be given Friday night the sixth with Rosa Raisa; Tannhauser, night of Saturday, the seventh. Chaliapin, the famous Russian basso will sing the title role of Mefistofele on Saturday afternoon with Edith Mason as Marguerite.

"Heretic and Orthodox in Modern Literature" was the Subject discussed by Louis H. Wetmore, New York critic, before the student body and faculty of Webster College, Monday afternoon February 9. Designating the as "primarily propagandists", Wetmore selected Hillaire Belloc, G. K. Chesterton, George Bernard Shaw, and H. G. Wells as examples for developing his subject.

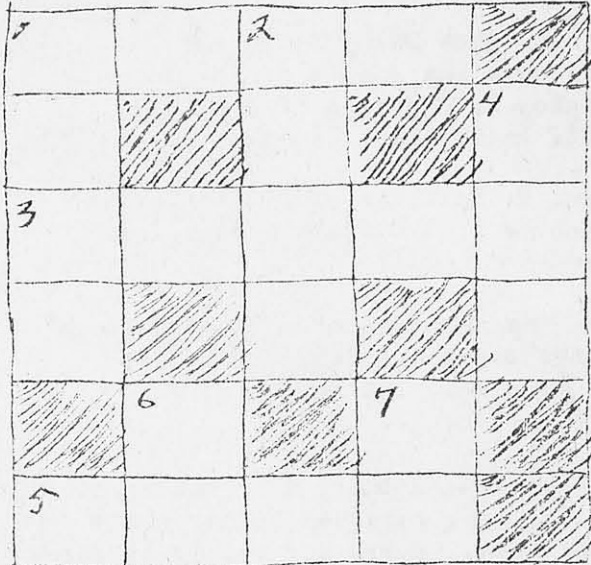

As a background for portraying the influence of Shaw, Wetmore told of the literary and religious conditions existing in England when Shaw met his first success in London. At the end of the nineteenth century England had decided, he said, that her empire and her dogmas would last forever. At the close of the Victorian age England was prosperous and looked at the world with a patronizing eye. Shaw came to England with the intention of laughing at England. As a result he became most unpopular. His humor and brilliant journalism, however, soon altered the literary tone. He dissolved the mists of pessimism and substituted the popular note of "boredom and someness" a note of realism and materialism.

Wetmore attacked H. G. Wells and his "Outline of History" (1922). He said that Wells was a great popularizer and did not mind "growing up publicly" He criticized the "Outline of History" as dangerous and unscholarly though interesting. Wells has the power of holding the interest of his readers, however ridiculous his argument may be. He is distinctly not a Christian.

Belloc, the lecturer declared, is the most active man on earth. He is a poet, an artist in black and white, an essayist, a lecturer, and a journalist, though history is his dominant passion. He has been editor on a London daily and a member of Parliament.

Belloc was educated at Oxford where he first became prominent. He is a Catholic and has the honor of possessing a chapel in his home.

Chesterton is Belloc's bosom friend. He is a convert to the Catholic faith and his works are written with a sound moral background. The personal stories concerning Chesterton who is, Wetmore said, both absentminded and lazy made the lecture most interesting.

Horizontal

- 1. Always supper at W.C.
- 3. Generally stewed. (Singular)
- 5. Fowl fruit.

Vertical

- 1. The way some fellows dance.
- 2. Musical dish.
- 4. Small bullet-like vegetable.
- 6. Jaw developer, also Sister Mary Joseph's High Particular. (Abbr.)
- 7. Same as Banana Oil. (Abbr.)

There is no reward offered for the solution of this puzzle except the general satisfaction experienced by the worker.

LoveLorn Corner.

Of the many letters which have come to the Editor of this Corner, since its beginning last week, the following was chosen for publication because it is a problem confronting many of the educated class of our two (2) million readers.

Dear Editor:

I am a Senior at----- (word of seven letters meaning pride of the Middle West) College. I have been keeopen kompany wid a guy what ain't got no learnin'. He's a regular gent and the only thing that stands in our way is schoolin. I love him but his grammar ain't no good. Youse as a educated person two, can understand how hard it is to get along wid a boy friend what ain't got de same interests in life what youse has yet. Do you tink we would be hapy? (Signed) Educated.

Dear Educated: From your letter I should judge you to be highly educated and refined young girl. Your love affair is most heart rending. What is an education where love is concerned? And from your letter I can see that you have enough education for two so why not share it with your boy friend? My advice to you would be to get your friend and rush to Clayton while he's in the notion. A young girl can't afford to be too particular now that Leap year is three years off!

ANSWER TO CROSSWORD PUZZLE

- | | |
|------------|-------------|
| Horizontal | 1. Annette |
| 1. Adele | 2. V. Walsh |
| 3. rat | 3. Rose |
| 6. Ola | 4. Al |
| 7. Eck | 5. Tank |
| 8. Hedwig | Vertical |

Editor's note: No reward will be given as no answers were sent in.

ADVERTISING SPACE FOR SALE! Special prices to students. (Apple sauce!)

THE WEEK

RETREAT EDITION

Volume 1

Webster College, March 12, 1925

No. 9

FATHER O'MALLEY CONDUCTS RETREAT

The retreat conducted at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo, by Rev. Martin J. O'Malley, C. M., closed Saturday morning. The exercises were held in the College Chapel. After the final hymns had been sung the girls assembled in the dining-room for breakfast. The outbursts from every throat were simultaneous. The pitch of the voices seemed, however, to be somewhat higher and rather staccato.

Father O'Malley's talks proved most interesting and a wealth of genuine good was derived therefrom. No one will ever say an unkind word about her neighbor without unconsciously calling up a mental image of herself picking up the feathers of a chicken. Father Donovan has promised reporter, though, to refrain from such penances. Although we cannot say that Father O'Malley increased our taste for bologna, we can all assure him that the lesson is learned and the application will follow.

The order of the day was as follows:

8:30.....Mass
10:00.....Conference
11:15.....Conference
11:50.....Examen
12:00.....Dinner
1:30.....Stations
2:15.....Conference
3:45.....Conference and Benediction
7:15.....S. Reading, Night
Prayers, Retire
Saturday Morning
8:00.....Mass

From observation of the above, one can readily see that there is sufficient reason for calloused knees. But "time heals many wounds." All the students of Webster College have determined not to find themselves in the situation of the woman on the train-----we all have purchased our tickets and are sure of our destination.

-----w-----
Here it comes! The YEAR BOOK is on its way. It will be out on April 1st. No, not an April Fool joke.

-----w-----
Something else is on its way! WATCH for the big show coming soon.

INSPECTOR VISITS COLLEGE

Dr. W. W. Boyd, President of the Western College for Women of Oxford, Ohio, visited Webster College on Thursday, February 26. He inspected the various departments to see if they met with the requirements of the North Central Association.

He examined the records in the Registrar's office. Then, accompanied by Mother M. Edith, Rev. J. P. Donovan, C. M., Rev. C. L. Souvay, C. M., and F. V. Corcoran, C. M., Dr. Boyd was taken through the entire building. He visited the French, Education, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology Laboratory Classes.

Dr. Boyd made favorable comment on the equipment and the courses of the College. He expressed his appreciation and admiration for them at the Biology Class.

GIRL SCOUT COURSE

-----w-----
Because of the great growth of the St. Louis Council of Girl Scouts during the winter months. Miss Elsa G. Becker, a trained Girl Scout leader, was brought to St. Louis from National headquarters in New York to train leaders to direct the activities of the ever-growing number of local troops.

Miss Becker is now conducting classes at Webster College for forty women who are interested in the problems of adolescent girls and who are anxious to help train them in character and leadership. This leaders' class meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 7:00 to 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Becker maintains that whether these prospective Girl Scout leaders in her classes ultimately take charge of troops or not, that because of their Girl Scout training, they will be prepared to be good leaders in their communities in whatever line of civic work they do enter. The training is not all scouting, but a greater part is the study of girl psychology, so that it will be possible for these young women to thoroughly understand the younger girls before they attempt to direct and lead them in character formation, citizenship and all attributes of wholesome womanhood.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	A. Tuchschnidt
City Editor	T. Fehlig
Sport Editor	E. Shea
News Editor	D. Donohue

Reporters--

V. Stephens	D. Monarch
V. Walsh	M. Tansford
G. Barthel	V. Barnicle
N. Shallcross	H. Simon
Circulation Manager	V. Stephens

----W----

A STEP FORWARD

The announcement of the beginning of a Girl Scout Leader training course at Webster College shows that the authorities of this college are interested in a movement which is sociologically as well as physically beneficial to the American girl.

There is nothing which builds a healthy mind and body better than home and woodcraft. The home arts give to the girl the much needed training which is neglected so much nowadays. The woodcraft helps to build a strong body and since a strong body generally includes a strong mind this work is very important.

Girl Scouting is a boon to the nation. It builds good citizens. It trains the girls in the citizenship and respect for the Constitution which is needed more today than ever before in the history of our country. Girl Scouting will do more than just train the girls. It will also inculcate into them the wish to train others to love the country either of their birth or of adoption.

There are classes for Boy Scout Masters all over the country and it is time that classes in girl leadership should be started in all the principal colleges of America. It is the only way to preserve the ideals of our country. The boys and girls of today are the men and women of tomorrow and only through them will America continue to be the Land of the Free and the Home of The Brave.

----W----

COOPERATION

Cooperation is a word that is used to designate both the theory of life and a system of business. In its broadest usage it means the creed that life is at its best when it is governed not by the petty, narrow competition of individuals, each seeking his own interests, but by that noble principle of mutual help which has meant so much to the progress of the world; by each individual striving for the good of the social body in its turn caring for each individual "Each for all and all for each" is its proper motto.

Schools and colleges can be and should be cooperative association. Probably the finest and best form of cooperative spirit can be and, fortunately often is, found existing among the students as a body, a class, or a team. From the very definition of the word, to cooperate means "to work together" and its connotation implies that the work is good. In other words there must be a united effort to promote the common good.

A wonderful example of cooperation noticed by the editor this last week is the good spirit and willingness of the students who have been asked to contribute their talent to help make the Sophmores' vaudeville show a great big SUCCESS.

----W----

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is a bond of union in the family, the state, and the physical universe. Empedocles called it "the conservative force in nature". The plane of real friendship lies in the communion of two souls. The essence of perfect friendship is that each friend reveals himself utterly to the other, puts aside his reserves and shows himself for what he truly is. The true origin of this union is to be found in the natural desire of loving in others that which is truly worthy of love. It usually takes its rise in some small external detail.

A friend is not merely an acquaintance but he is one who is attached to another by sentiments of affection, respect, and esteem. In order to cultivate and establish a true friendship we must rid ourselves of self-centeredness and complacency; we must remember that utility does not generate friendship, although friendship produces utility. Virtue makes and preserves this union of sentiment. It is far less injurious to friendship to say out right, "I cannot do this thing that is asked of me because I am a coward" than to find an excellent reason for not doing it. Though a friend is to speak out, and sharply if necessary, yet he must not take pleasure in finding fault or to be ready to credit charges brought by others.

In nothing is carelessness so blameworthy as in choosing our friend. Indeed, nothing is so important as friendship. With Shakspere, let us say; "Keep thy friend, under thy own life's key."

MODERN GIRL PRAISED BY DR. W. BOYD

COMING EVENTS

"I have been in every College in the March 12-Mr. F. Paulding, reader, "The United States from Mills in California to Ratcliffe College in Cambridge, Mass., and I have never visited a better College for women." This statement was made by Dr. Wm W. Boyd, Inspector for the North Central Association, when he visited Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., Thursday, February 19.

Dr. Boyd, during the course of his interview with the Web reporter, said that from his position as President of the Western College for Women in Oxford, Ohio, he was prepared to make a definite statement about the effects of smoking, bobbed hair, and modern dress on girls.

"Although a girl's right to smoke is unquestioned, smoking will hurt the reputation of a girl; it alienates from her the respect which should be accorded to all girls. Moreover, to smoke hurts a girl physically; it makes her less fit to endure and prevents her hearty participation in sports."

"The dress of today I regard as the most sensible and sanitary which could be adopted. Bobbed hair has my unqualified approval." (Since the Web reporter faced Dr. Boyd with hair cut to the tip of the ear, this opinion might be a result of extenuating circumstances).

The eventful date in Dr. Boyd's life is September 1st. At this date in 1887 he married Miss Mary A. Gates, Marietta, Ohio. On September 1, 1914 he became President of the Western College in Oxford, Ohio.

Dr. Boyd received his A. B. degree from the Marietta College of Ohio, when he was 24 years old. He began teaching in the public schools of Cambridge, Ohio in 1884. He continued his work at Marietta College and received his M. A. in 1887. (Charles Gates Dawes, Vice President of United States, received his A. B. from Marietta College in 1884 and his A.M. in 1887). In 1890 Dr. Boyd was made Principal of the Marietta High School and later Superintendent of Schools in this same town. For years before he rose to his present position he was Inspector of High Schools in Ohio.

Dr. Boyd continued his studies in Europe for 7 summers. In 1911 he received his Ph.D. He is the author of "The Government and Civic Institutions of Ohio".

The news organ of the University of South Dakota has compiled the following figures: there are 102 State Universities and Colleges in the United States, the working income of which is $122,000,000, and since these represent 200,000 students, the percapita cost of educating them is $690.

Rivals" in the auditorium at 3 o'clock.

Piano Recital by Miss Marian Murtaugh of Chicago, in the College Auditorium at 6:30 o'clock.

Basket-ball Game in Idle Hour at 8 o'clock. Dulcies vs. Webster

March 19-Recital by Misses Lillian O'Connor and Grace Cantwell in College Auditorium.

March 24-"Abu San of Old Japan", comedy-drama, in the College Auditorium.

STUDENTS HEAR LECTURE

Miss Catherine Hennesy, who has on previous occasions given some very interesting lectures at Webster College, spoke on "A Glimpse of Twentieth Century", March 3, in the College Auditorium.

Miss Hennesy said that all genuine humor must be truth and she showed how humor differed from wit, also from a sense of humor, which is merely an appreciation of what is humorous.

Every nation has its own particular kind of humor, as a result there are various kinds: jokes, anecdotes, satyrs, and buffoonery, which is too often vulgar.

We find our best writers, Miss Hennesy stated, in such writers as Benjamin Franklin, Washington Irving, Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Russel Lowell, Josh Billings, Bill Nigh, Bret Hart, and Mark Twain, who mark the beginning of this extensive department. More modern are such noted newspaper men as Peter Finley Dunn, the widely read "Mr. Dooley" and Christopher D. Morley, New York's popular critic and poet. Also Don Marquish who writes under the column entitled "The Lantern" on the Chicago Tribune.

Besides these, Miss Hennesy spoke of George Ade, the writer of fables and slang, and Thomas Masson, the Editor of Life, who is the author of 50,000 jokes; also,

Irving S. Cobb has the keenest insight into human nature of any humorist. Miss Hennesy read extracts from these authors. She said she did not understand why tragedy should be superior to comedy, since we know that humor does not come from trivial-minded men, but in many cases from philosophers.

Don't forget that the Year Books needs financial support.

CLASSICAL CLUB LECTURE REPEATED
AT WEBSTER COLLEGE

Claude H. Heithaus, of the Department of Philosophy, of St. Louis University, addressed the faculty and student body of Webster College in the College Auditorium, yesterday afternoon.

Heithaus spoke on the theory of evolution in Greek and Roman Literature. He showed how Darwin's and Spencer's theories were duplicates of those used by the Greek philosopher Democritus, and the Roman poet Lucretius, who lived about 2000 years ago.

The lecture was illustrated with slides prepared from drawings especially made for the lecture by a prominent Saint Louis illustrator who was interested by the subject matter.

Heithaus delivered the same lecture before the St. Louis Classical Club in St. Louis University Law School, Saturday, February 28.

-----w-----

FORMATION OF MISSION SOCIETY

Taking the Season of Lent as an opportune time Archbishop Glennon announced the organization of the St. Louis Mission Society. The object of this society is to enlist in the support of the Home and Foreign Missions all Catholics, both old and young, of the Archdiocese.

The establishment of this Society is not intended to supplant existing organizations which have been established for the benefit of the Home and Foreign Missions, but rather to supplement them by appealing not to a few, but to the many.

The St. Louis Mission Society requests every adult in the Diocese to become a member of the Society making an offering of $1.20 a year.

Father Donovan, President of the Society, has inaugurated the work at Webster College and wishes the girls to form in bands of ten, with a promoter who will not only be one of the members but also will have charge of the band. Webster College has always come to the front in Mission Work. Let it be among the first to claim 100% membership.

-----w-----

MANAGING A SCHOOL PAPER

Running a school paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, folks say we are silly.

If we don't, folks say we are too serious.

If we don't publish original matters, then we are too lazy to write.

If we study our books, then we ought to be out rustling school news.

If we are rustling news, we are not attending to class matters.

If we don't print some of the contributions, we lack in appreciation.

If we do print all contributions, our paper is filled with junk.

Some people will even say that we swiped this from another magazine. We did.

S P O R T - N E W S

Physical Education Course

In noting the advances made in the various departments of the College this year particular mention should be made of the new branch of work in the Athletic Department.

A Physical Education class was opened last September under the direction of Miss Lucy Reynolds and has steadily advanced. When the class started there was only one pupil enrolled. There are at present 12 enthusiastic entrants.

The course as now presented consists only of play ground technique. Later work this term will include first aid work, Massage technique and the study of muscular effort.

The Athletic Director is planning to extend this course to two or possibly three years of accredited training. The advanced course will include a thorough study of the Anatomy, Physiology and Hygiene.

This physical education work is eminently desirable for girls who wish to become physical culture instructors.

FRESHMEN vs. UPPERCLASSMEN

The freshmen took a basket-ball game from the upperclassmen last Tuesday, March 4, in Idle Hour, the College Gymnasium. The upperclassmen started in with enthusiasm and gained six points before the freshmen scored. With more team work the freshies put up a good fight. They then took the lead and kept it throughout the second half. The final score was 27-11.

Line-up

Upperclassmen	Pos.	Freshmen
L. O'Connor	F	C. Blec
M. Reddin	F	V. McClung
L. Murphy	J.C.	H. Averill
V. Walsh	R.C.	M. Leonard
G. O'Connor	G.	G. Corcoran
H. Fogg	G.	P. Shocklee
Substituto		D. Donoghue
Referee		Higgins
Scorers		Bindowald, Hois- serer, Stephens
Time keeper		M. Provost.

-----w-----

Webster would like to enlist from the ranks of its minimum number of knockers and fill out a quota of 100% boosters.

MUSIC NOTES

Miss Marian Murtaugh, a pianist of distinction will give a recital in the Auditorium of Webster College, tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

Miss Murtaugh has studied piano under Mr. Gunn of Chicago, one of the most prominent instructors of that city.

Her program will be as follows:

Rhapsody G Minor Op 79 #2	Brahms
Capriccio B Minor " 76 #2	"
Waltz C Sharp Minor Op 64	Chopin
Etude F Minor " 25	"
Scherzo B Flat Minor" 31	"
Arobosque	Debussy
Scherzino Op 29 #32	Ganz
Etude E Flat	Paganini-Lizst
Lichestroumo # 3	Lizst
Prelude G Minor	Rochmaninoff

St. Louis will again welcome the San Carlo Grand Opera Co. at the Odeon during the week of March 23. The demand for boxes, season subscriptions, and single tickets are far in excess of any previous season.

Students of the Loretto Conservatory and music lovers in the College will attend the Opera "Madame Butterfly" by Puccini on Friday Evening, March 28.

Misses Grace Cantwell and Lillian O'Connor will give their senior, piano and vocal recital, March 19 in the College Auditorium. They will present a delightful and varied program of concert technique. Both will receive their degrees in Music in June.

---W---

CAMPUS NEWS

Misses Nadine and Ella Hunter of Jefferson City, Missouri, former students of Webster College, were the guests of Miss Marie Hart of St. Louis, from February 19-26. The misses Hunter paid a visit to their Alma Mater on Tuesday and remained for social dinner. They are now in New Madrid, Missouri. On their return to Jefferson City they will again pass through St. Louis and perhaps visit us again.

Many of Webster College's former students came back to make the annual retreat given by Father Martin J. O'Malley C. M. The following are among our list:

Miss Mary Weber of Olney Illinois who spent from Tuesday until Saturday night with us. We were very glad to see you again, Mary, even though our silence kept us from telling you so.

Miss Mary McNamara who has just undergone an operation at St. Joseph's Hospital in St. Charles, Missouri. We are glad to see Miss McNamara looking so well and hope she will remain with us for a few weeks.

Miss Cecilia Hauber, of Kansas City, Kansas, who arrived here Tuesday, February 27, and returned to Kansas City, Sunday afternoon. We hope you enjoyed your visit and will come again soon.

Miss Evarista Cottor, Litt. B. '24, We were glad to see that she returned to us.

Mrs. John McGuire and Mrs. P. J. Peters, of Sterling, Illinois, visited their daughters, Helen McGuire and Margaret Peters, at Webster College over the week-end of February 20.

Miss Dorothy Vennewitz left Friday February 19 for her home in Fairfield, Illinois, and returned to school Tuesday morning. Tuesday night Mrs. Vennewitz surprised her daughter by visiting St. Louis.

The Sophomore Class is planning to give a vaudeville immediately after Easter. The Sophomores are getting talent from other classes in the school and many Freshmen and Upperclassmen have been asked to cooperate. Those that have not been asked to take part in the performance will give their assistance, we hope, in attending and inviting their friends.

It will be run on the plan of the Orpheum Theatre, consisting of many novel and special acts. The price of admission is $.50.

Mrs. J. C. Corcoran, of Elvins, Missouri, visited her daughter, Gene, March 9-10. This is your first visit, we understand, Mrs. Corcoran, we hope it will not be your last.

The Sisters and students of Webster College extend sincerest sympathy to Sister Francis Marie and Virginia Walsh on the death of their brother, Frank P. Walsh. He will not be forgotten in our prayers.

The following day pupils boarded for the three days of retreat; Misses Agnes Tuchsmidt, Theresa Shea, Helen Simon, Catherine Clark, Margaret Mowrey, Helen Healy, Margaret Tiernon, Olive Pfeffer, Mary Cook, Anna McDermott, Rosamond Smith, Helen Stuckstedt, and Marie Hart.

The best policy is the one that is paid up.

LOVE-LORN CORNER

THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

Dear Editor:

My maidenly affections have been won by another Apollo. The only impediment to our marriage is his scant salary. Do you think a couple could live happily on $100,000 a year, in view of the fact that fashion dictates no hose and tooless shoes for spring?

Yours-Worried

Dear Worried:

Once a maiden's affections have been won, it is difficult to consider circumstances reasonably. If you ever fall in love again, my advice to you is, do not let your heart dictate to your head. I am afraid your ideal man is not fit companion for life. A man is not very ambitious nor will be ever prosperous if he cannot bring home more than $100,000 a year.

Yours-Editor

Dear Editor:

I am a young bride. My husband is twenty-three years old and I am only seventy-five. This is my first attempt at marriage and I fear I am losing my husband's love and attention, I bobbed my hair, shortened my skirts; I have decided to smoke, to dance, and to indulge in sports. Will this win my husband's love and attention?

Yours-Youth

Dear Youth:

Beauty, Grace, and attractiveness are all good in their places. Do not be rash in your desperation. Remember the way to a man's heart is through his stomach.

Yours-Editor.

-----W-----

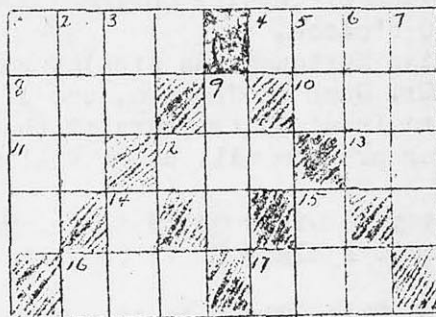

ANSWER TO CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

- | | |
|-----------------|----------------|
| Vertical | Horizontal |
| 1. Hops | 1. Hash |
| 2. Soup | 3. Prune |
| 4. Poa | 5. Eggs |
| 6. Chewing gum. | 7. Applousauce |

-----W-----

Advice to Webster Girls:

Any girl can be gay in a classy coupe, In a taxi, they all can be jolly, But the girl worth while is the one that can smile, When you're taking her home in the trolley, the driver

Horizontal

1. "Here she comes, there she ---!"
4. -----Suey.
88. Syllogism of 1st mode
10. Homonym of our.
11. Best locked room in College (Abbr.)
12. Greek letter meaning chi.
13. Word that isn't nice when "go" is before it.
16. Best student publication.
17. What Englishmen stop in middle of a murder for.

Vertical

1. A cuckoo.
2. Kind of bucket that hung in the well.
3. Each (Abbr.)
5. Behold! as "Land,---!?"
6. Not in.
7. Formal dance.
9. Correlative of 14 down.
14. Much used pronoun around Webster halls.
15. Verb used most in all languages.

-----Web Wit-----

Father: You are not going to wear that dress out, are you?
 Daughter: O no! I shall just wear it a few times.

"Harry learned to play the piano in no time."
 "Yeah--I heard him playing it that way the other day."

Basket-ball Coach: Here you! Don't do that! Use your head!
 Forward: Oh, is that allowed?

"Jack is quite a toe dancer, remarked Mabel, Just look at my toes."

Nurse: Did the doctor take your temperature?
 Lowbrow: I don't think so. All I've missed so far is my watch.

WEBSTER COLLEGE FAIRY TALES!!!!!!!

Mother Edith: Dear, shorten your skirt. You must be in style.

Sister Louise: Do not bother lifting your feet, girls. We like noise

THE WEB

Volume 1

Webster College, March 26, 1925

No. 10

WEBSTER COLLEGE ADMITTED TO NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION

At the meeting of the North Central Association held March 19, at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, Ill., Webster College, was admitted to the association. Two weeks previous to the meeting Dr. Wm. W. Boyd, President of the Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, inspected the college and stated in his report that all the departments were most satisfactory.

Sister M. Louise, dean of Webster College, Sister Mary Joseph, and Rev. F. V. Corcoran, C. M., of Kenrick Seminary, and also Professor of Philosophy at Webster College, represented the school.

Charles H. Judd, President of the Chicago University, was chairman of the meeting which convened at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, March 19. It was noon before committees were appointed to pass on the reports of the colleges that were before the house for admission to the association.

At 2:55 P. M. Webster College was called. With the report of Dr. Boyd and the praise of J. D. Illiff, Inspector of High Schools in Missouri, Webster was admitted without a dissenting vote.

Webster College is the youngest college to be admitted and is the only Catholic college for women in this state in the association.

Trouble in the Office

The pencil has made a number of pointed remarks about the sponge being soaked all day and the waste baskets being full. The scissors are cutting up and the paper weight is trying to hold them down, while the macilage is sticking around to see the stamps get a good licking. The ink well, but appears to be blue, while bill is stuck in the file and the calendar expects to get a month off. The blotter has been talking it all in.

MISSION NEWS

Tuesday, March 19 was the monthly Communion Day for the Nancy Haven Unit of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade of Webster College.

At the mission Mass the new white and

(continued)

"THE RIVALS" PRESENTED BY FREDERICK PAULDING

Frederick Paulding, dramatic lecturer of New York, read Sheridan's "The Rivals" in his fifth annual visit to Webster College, Thursday afternoon, March 12.

Paulding said that old English comedies deserve a high place in the ranking of literature. He attributed lack of success in the modern production of these plays to the actors who interpreted the parts. Mistress Malaprop and Sir Anthony in the comedy are frequently portrayed mindingly, he said, instead of with the full flourish of dignity which their characteristics demand.

Paulding acted the part of Captain Absolute in the company of the late Joseph Jefferson. "The Rivals" was a marked success and had quite a run at the old Olympic Theatre in St. Louis.

Prominent Educator Dies

Dr. F. A. Hall, Chancellor Emeritus of Washington University, died last Tuesday from pneumonia. He was seventy years old.

Dr. Hall served Washington University more than twenty years as teacher, dean and counselor. His death is a real loss to St. Louis educators. He has done much toward the advancement of general education.

His intimate associates feel the loss of this leader keenly. Herbert S. Hadley present chancellor of Washington University, believes that no man was ever more loved by the faculty, alumni and student body of a great university than was Dr. Hall. Rev. F. V. Corcoran, in an informal address to his philosophy class at Webster College, said: "I have had the pleasure of meeting him on several occasions and have always found him an excellent and charming man."

"DON'T'S" FOR WEBSTER TOURISTS

Don't calculate on seeing SPANISH gentlemen in habiliments a la Valentino. All are not bull-fighters.

Don't expect people you see in the streets of SPANISH cities to yodel. They have business to attend to, too.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	A. Tuchschnidt
City Editor	T. Fehlig
Sport Editor	T. Shea
News Editor	D. Donoghue

Reporters

L. Archer	D. Monarch
A. Burkart	R. Smith
G. Barthel	M. Tancred
Circulation Manager	V. Barnicle

OUR PAPER

School papers should be read by the students, alumni, and friends of the school. To be a success it needs the cooperation of the whole school; it needs much more cooperation than that afforded by just those who are immediately connected with its publication. To make the paper worth subscribing to there must be something in it worth reading, and the paper itself must make an appearance which we can be proud of outside of the school. Every one should contribute what she can. News is what we want. If you don't think you can write there is something you can do. The next time you go to the theatre and hear a good joke, try to remember it and give it to the Joke Editor so that all of our readers can enjoy it. The joke page is probably the most read page in the Web-- let us make it a REAL LAUGH. But please remember, fellow students, that other departments of our paper need your help also. Some may think that it is the exclusive privilege, if we may call it that, of the Journalism class to submit material. But we will be glad to have matter of general importance. Don't criticize your paper without making an attempt to improve it. Let us this year work together to make our paper a regular paper.

Now in regard to the appearance of our paper. What is your opinion of a college of 150 students that can issue nothing better than a mimeographed copy? There is no reason why we cannot have the Web in the form of a PRINTED COLLEGE PAPER, issued weekly as other colleges. This can be done at a slight extra cost per copy, by securing subscriptions.

We are all proud of our growth in other departments and activities. Let us be proud of our Alma Mater as she is represented by her paper.

Don't forget the Big Fight April 22.

LITTLE THEATRE NEWS

The Loretto Players of Webster College presented "Abu San of Old Japan", a comedy-drama in two acts, in the auditorium, last Tuesday night. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Anna McClain Sankey.

An atmosphere for the play that followed was created by soft strains of music, low lights of lanterns and Japanese maidens rushing around the auditorium.

The stage settings, native costumes, and lighting effects produced very picturesque scenes. The singing and dancing characteristic of Japanese skillfully heightened the charm of the play.

The most enrapturing scene was that of the "Night Boat". The maiden's song, "Slumber Boat" beautified the scenes.

Those who took part were: Misses Theresa Shea, Jean Murphy, Elizabeth Dauwalter, Anna Carr, Theo Fehlig, Helen Stuckstede, Dorothy Donoghue, Catherine Clark, Marie Powers, Margaret O'Leary, Mary Elizabeth Powell, Helen Mae Heisserer, Thelma Coyne, Edith Glossmeyer, and Ola B. Harris. Miss Kathryn Kay was accompanist.

Special stage settings and lighting effects were arranged by Misses Genevieve Barthel, Rosalie Seifert and Agnes Griffin.

MUSIC NOTES

Miss Grace Cantwell, pianist and Miss Lillian O'Connor, soprano, students of the Loretto Conservatory appeared in a joint recital in the Webster College auditorium Thursday March 19.

Miss Cantwell showed rare ability as a pianist. Her perfect technique and original interpretation in the difficult numbers brought much applause.

Miss O'Connor, too, was at her best and her beautiful lyric soprano voice seemed even sweeter than on previous occasions. Her program, most of which was sung in French, was delightfully varied with classical and popular songs.

Miss Lucille Roof, the accompanist added much to the success of the program.

This week the countless lovers of good music have enjoyed a varied grand opera repertoire. The San Carlo Grand Opera Company, under the direction of Guy Galterman, has presented at the Odeon, seven well-known operas among which were "Aida" and "Cavalleria Rusticana".

SPORT NEWS

Arcadia Collogo, Ironton, Mo. has asked Webster College to come to Ironton on May 25 for a Track Meet. The events scheduled for this meet are:

- 75 yard dash
- 50 yard dash
- Shuttle relay
- Running high-jump
- Running broad-jump
- Shot put
- Basket-ball throw
- Base-ball throw.

Two girls from each school represented at the meet will be entered in every event on the program. Webster has splendid material to offer and will no doubt make a showing, such that will more than justify the trip.

----W----

Dulcies vs Webster

The Dulcies lost to Webster College in a basketball game last night, in the college gymnasium. At close of first half, Webster was in lead, 21-11. The final score was 25-16. The Dulcies played up to the finals last year in St. Louis Municipal League.

Line-up.

Dulcios	Pos.	Webster
R. Mortansan	F.	V. McClung
T. Stobbins	F.	C. Block
C. Dziatzko	J. C.	H. Averill
R. Mortansan	R. C.	M. Leonard
H. Delaney	G.	P. Shacklee
E. Mortansan	C.	G. Corcoran

Substitutes:--M. Haberl, G. Barthel, D. Dahms--Webster
Referee--Higgins Scorer--M. Fennage
Time keepers--W. Cahill, V. Walsh

----W----

Campus News

Sisters M. Eustachia and Mary Joseph left Tuesday night, March 24, on an extended trip through the South in the interest of Webster College. Before their return late in April, they will visit Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama and Kentucky to solicit new students.

Sister M. Louise and Mary Joseph returned from Chicago last Sunday. They attended the Convention of the North Central Association of colleges and universities held in that city.

Rev. F. V. Corcoran, C. M., Professor of Philosophy represented Webster College at the Convention in Chicago.

----W----

Remember the Big Fight, April 22.

There will be a special meeting of the Webster College Alumnae, on Saturday, March 28, at 2:30 P. M. at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo.

Invitations have been received in the College from the Freshman Class to their May Dance in honor of the College Seniors. The dance will be given at the Algonquin Club, May 1.

Misses Florence Pitt Smith, Rose Bindewald, Virginia McClung, Juanita Abol, Elizabeth Dauwalter, Mary Tancrod, and Helen Mac Heisserer spent the week-end in St. Louis.

----W----

MERINS HALL NEWS

The Senior Class of Merins Hall were guests at a very pretty luncheon Saturday afternoon, March 14, when Miss Marie Alyse Reis entertained with a bridge luncheon at her home in East St. Louis.

Miss Beatrice Feilig will entertain with a tea at her home, 1248 Amherst Place March 28, at 3 o'clock. Misses Rosemary O'Reilly, Territ Bernicle, Celeste Feilig and Mary George will serve. About sixty-five guests have been invited.

Miss Marguerite Karch and Miss Catherine Flynn entertained with a luncheon in the Daniel Boone Room of the Statler Hotel on Saturday, March 21. The favors were miniature corsages.

Our country class-mate, Miss LAURA Dahms of Granite City lost her way attempting to attend the luncheon and some friends found her roaming about Union Station, seeking vainly for the Statler.

The President of the Senior Class has appealed to Mother Edith in the name of Merins Hall for a holiday to celebrate an important event in the history of the class. On Monday, March 25, Miss Lucille Manning washed her hair for the first time in five months. We feel that Lucille, like cleanliness is very much nearer to God since this noble deed.

----W----

MISSION NEWS

A yellow banner was displayed for the first time and the banner remained in the chapel during the entire day. It was necessary to get a new banner when the name of the college was changed from Loretto to Webster.

THE ANNUAL

THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

Theresa told us Romeo and Juliet explored the Mississippi River, Gen thought of Castlewood.

Tank said "Since a fort is a place for soldiers, a fortress must be a place for soldiers' wives to live." Thats right Tank--a little more deduction and you will be able to take over the Logic class.

Marie's not so dumb. She thinks that a mountain range is a large size stove. Not so hot, Marie.

Vidy thought that Georgia was founded by the people who had been executed. You're wrong Vidy, they were persecuted.

"Five can ride as cheap as one." How about it, Helen?

"You never can tell" said the murderer as he shot the last witness of his crime.

LOVE-LORN CORNER

Dear Editor: The classes of the college are preparing to entertain the Seniors. This of course means men. Just what type would you suggest for a college dandy? If I bring a handsome man, it perhaps will be my last date; if I bring a homely man, the girls say I have no taste. If he is good dancer, I will have too much competition; if he is awkward they will say I am inconsiderate of their toes. Some like them wild, some like them mild, some like them small some like them tall, some like them different, some like them indifferent. Oh! What is a girl going to do--Irina Fix.

Dear Irina Fix:--The editor refuses to answer this question as she cannot give advice at the expense of her own friends. If you wait for a man who pleases everyone, you will wither stag or chaperone.--Editor

Dear Editor:--A fortune-teller told me my whole future hangs on my beauty. I am losing my pretty complexion. What shall I do?--Indistress.

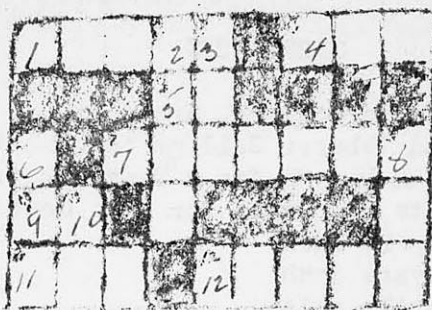

Dear Indistress:--My advice is secure a padlock on your dressing-table drawer.

THE WEB

It was the end of the scene; the heroine was starving.

"Bread," she cried, "Give me bread!" Another the curtain came down with a roll.

Short-sighted lady (in grocery store) "Is that the headcheese over there?" Clerk--"No ma'am, that's one of his assistants."

Horizontal

- 1. Sister of an ox
- 4. Much stepped on
- 5. Latin Negative
- 7. Period of sleep
- 9. Answer to "Did you study?"
- 11. Kind of gum
- 12. Afamous bouquet

Vertical

- 2. Part of anatomy
- 3. Never mind this one
- 6. --- Claire, Actress
- 8. Famous for her desire for apples
- 10. Correlative of either

Editors Note:--Answers to cross -word puzzle supplied on demand.

IF

(Apologies to Kipling)

If you can never look at a book
And make the nuns think you are the Golden rule,
If you can cut an English hour
And not meet Miss Sherry after school
If you can return Sister Mary Joseph's smile
When she puts you a zero down,
If you can say I wont walk a mile
I'll just stay in my room and Churchill
Down,
If you can wear a diaphanous skirt
And not encounter Sister Louise,
Then, My dear girl, you were born lucky
So thank God on Your Knees.

When you tell Jimmy Walsh anything it goes in one ear and stays in, when you tell Lucinda something it goes in both ears and out of her mouth.

Mr. Faggerty:--Give a definition of density, Miss Peters.

Miss Peters: (Silence)

Mr. Faggerty:-- I said a definition not an illustration/

Mother--"Johnny, did you get that loaf of bread I sent you for?"
Johnny--"No, the store was closed."
Mother--"It couldn't be this time of day. Did you try the door?"
Johnny--"No, 'cause I saw a sign in the window, "Home Cooking."

THE WEB

EASTER EDITION

Volume 1

WEBSTER COLLEGE APRIL 8 1925

Number 107

SISTERS OF LORETTO ORDER

CELEBRATE SEVEN DOLORS.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY TAKES PLACE IN COLLEGE CHAPEL IN AFTERNOON.

The Loretto Sisters celebrated their feast day, the feast of the Seven Sorrows, last Friday. The name of the order, Sisters of Loretto at the Foot of the Cross, is significant of their choosing this feast as their own.

This day has been set aside by the Catholic Church to commemorate the seven sorrows of the Blessed Virgin. It is a movable feast falling on the Friday before Good Friday. The seven sorrows celebrated are; The Prophecy of Holy Simeon; The Flight into Egypt; Loss of the Child Jesus in the Temple; Jesus's Meeting His Mother on the Way to Calvary; Mary standing beneath the Cross; Jesus taken down from the Cross and Laid in Mary's arms; The Burial of Christ.

The celebration at Webster College consisted in the exposition of the Blessed Sacrament during the day. As in other years Archbishop J. J. Glennon delivered a sermon in the College Chapel and gave benediction at three o'clock in the afternoon. Following this was a reception for the Archbishop by the student body in caps and gowns. On this day Webster College like all other Loretto Schools, acknowledges the sublimity of the feast by a holiday.

His Grace extended his best wishes to the Sisters in his discourse. He said it was very queer to think of our celebrating a sorrow. This feast is so unlike the other feasts which signify glory and brightness. The natural trend of today, however, is joyful, not sorrowful. His Grace advised the students to make their lives worth while, and to make good use of their education.

---W---

We editors may dig and toil
Till our finger-tips are sore
But some poor sap is sure to say
"I've heard that joke before."

E A S T E R G R E E T I N G S ! !
THE WEB WISHES THE SISTERS; FACULTY AND STUDENTS
OF WEBSTER COLLEGE
A VERY JOYOUS EASTER.

SOPHOMORES TO PRESENT VAUDEVILLE.

A Vaudeville will be given by the Sophomores of Webster College in the College Auditorium, Wednesday evening April 22 at 8:00 o'clock.

Miss Rose Bindewald is supervising the skits and acts to be presented. Miss Jeanne Murphy has charge of the costumes and scenic effects. Misses Virginia Walsh and Marie Hart are in charge of the ticket sale.

The Webster Orchestra has been engaged for the performance. Posters announcing the Vaudeville have been placed at St. Louis University, at Washington University, at the Webster and Old Orchard Drug Stores. The Ozark theatre has offered to advertise the Vaudeville free of charge.

---W---

TRIBUTE PAID TO SISTERS
by
Edward J. McCarty.

The Sisters who have given their lives to God in the various religious orders and who daily toil in the classroom, the hospital, and the orphanages, quietly and unobtrusively, are truly patriots that the citizens of the world may justly be proud of.

This is the substance of an oration which held a large audience spellbound at St. Louis University Auditorium, delivered by Edward J. McCarty at the Oratorical Contest held there March 26.

It was most beautiful and worthy tribute which this former football star paid to the Nuns of the World.

---W---

Puzzle:--Why does Mother Edith object to the girls indulging in their evening walks on the northern part of the campus.

---W---

Managing Editor	Rosamond Smith
City Editor	Mary Lynn
Sport Editor	Jeanette Stiritz
News Editor	Virginia Stephens
Circulation Mgr.	Adele Burkhart

Reporters

Theo Fehlig	Virginia Walsh
Violet Barnicle	Dorothy Monarch
Lillian O'Connor	Celeste Block

Copy Readers

Nah Shallcross	Agnes Tuchschnidt
----------------	-------------------

----W----

EDITORIAL COLUMN

EASTER

The Easter Season is here. Easter, the most joyful day of the year, is a fitting close to Lent. After forty days of penance and self-denial, we long for pleasure, for beautiful music, for flowers and all the things we have so long denied ourselves, and in Easter we find all our wants fulfilled.

Easter, symbolized by the pure white Easter lily, is truly the day for peace and gladness. The significance of Easter, the resurrection of Jesus Christ, bring to us real lasting happiness, the peace of soul.

Nature, too, seems so peaceful and happy. Trees that were dead, take on new life, and blossom forth, flowers that seemed not to exist, bud in the sunlight, the birds return from the south, and all seems alive, happy and ready to welcome the feast of Easter.

Joy is expressed everywhere for the happy season of Easter is here.

----W----

TRACK

The annual Field Day of Webster College should bring out many of the Webster College students for track practice. All students who take Athletics should at least try-out for our big Athletic event which will take place May 13.

To qualify for the track meet the important thing is to be on hand whenever track practices are held. The only way to gain proficiency, in sports as well as other things, is to do over and over again whatever you wish to perfect yourself in. The old saying "Practice makes perfect" applies to athletics as well as to anything else. Let's all go out for Track and break all previous records for Webster College.

We all have different ideas of a "Happy Easter".

The out-of-town girls of Webster College enjoy the thrill and excitement of going home for the holidays; with many new spring frocks and the anticipation of dances, teas and bridge parties during the festival season.

Although the St. Louis girls will not be honored with as many fetes, nevertheless Easter Sunday is a long-looked for event for them. They are gayly bodecked in their new ensemble creations, strolling jauntily in the warm spring sunshine with their favorite "date", or rolling smoothing along in his new car.

The younger tots' conception of Easter is an entirely different one. To them Easter means the coming of the generous and mysterious Easter Rabbit, who like good old St. Nick, never forgets them on Easter Morn.

----W----

THE EASTER LILY

In a patch of silver moonlight, that fell softly through the night
Something stirred and 'wakened
And shone forth through the night.

When the first crimson streaks of an Easter morn,
Burst forth in a rosy ray-
Where the silver patch of moonlight had been
A beautiful lily stood white and slim
A hymn of joy to Christ that day.

----W----

A bit of paint, a cunning girl,
A dust of powder, a pretty girl
A drop of rain; away it goes.
Now, a homely girl with a freckled nose

There's a Reason.

There was a student in our class,
And she was very dumb;
She never tried to pass,
Now that was going some.

But then she took a seat beside,
The brightest girl in class;
She purchased ponies, she could ride
That's how she came to pass.

----W----

Speaking of puzzles, one, cross-word brings on another.

----W----

COLLEGE ACTIVITIES CROWD
WEBSTER COLLEGE CALENDAR.

The Easter vacation which begins today and ends Wednesday, April 15, is the last breathing spell of the year for Webster College.

Classes will be resumed at eight o'clock on Wednesday morning and the outside activities will begin on Thursday night, April 16.

The Dramatic Art Department will present two one-act plays, "The Old Romance" and "The Far-Away Princess." From then on, till Graduation Day, June 3, the calendar is overflowing with lectures, parties, recitals and dances.

The following is the schedule up to and including May 1:

- April 16--"Old Romance" and "Far-Away Princess".
- " 20--Card Party by Seniors.
- " 22--Vaudeville by Sophomores.
- " 24--Mr. Curtis of the Department of Physical Education of Missouri University will speak on "Physical Education and the Necessity of it for teachers".
- " 29--Recital by Lucienne Iberger and Margaret Tiernon
- May 1 -- Freshman Dance at Algonquin Country Club.

TRACK WORK BEGINS

The Athletic Students started track work but were hindered by somewhat inclement weather. The practice, consisting of high and broad jumping had to be held in Idle Hour. The Freshmen showed unusual ability in the work making it evident that the upper classmen will have to fight for their laurels on Field Day, which will be held May 13 on the College Campus.

Those carrying off honors May 13 will compose the team that will meet Arcadia College May 23 at Ironton, Mo. The team will receive special training for this track meet under the direction of Miss Reynolds.

YEH! YEH! RADIO!

A five-tube Neutrodyne Radio Set was recently installed in the Book Room of Webster College, under the direction of Henry Yengst. The set is the gift of Sister M. Loretto of the College.

The Dean has made several rules concerning the time that the radio is not to be used. If by chance the students do not know the forbidden times let them use it frequently and they will find out!

FEAST OF SEVEN DOLORS
MARK GOLDEN JUBILEE

Sister Guidonia of the Order of Loretto at the Foot of the Cross celebrated her Golden Jubilee at Webster College, April 3.

Father J. P. Donovan, C. M. said a Mass for her at 6:15 A. M. and at 8:30 A. M. her nephew, the Rev. John P. Spender of St. Roch's Church, St. Louis also said a Mass in the College Chapel. He addressed the Sisters and students of Webster College.

Sister M. Vera of Loretto Academy, Kansas City, Mo. visited Webster College last week to attend the celebration of Sister Guidonia's Golden Jubilee. Sister Vera for the last three years was instructor of Violin at Webster College.

DREAM OF DANTE PORTRAYED FOR ST. LUKE'S ART SOCIETY'S PLAY.

Students of Webster College were asked to portray the Dream of Dante in the Mid-Lenten Entertainment given by the St. Luke's Art Society, at the New Cathedral Hall.

The pupils of the various catholic schools in St. Louis took part. They presented living pictures of the great masterpieces of painting and sculpture.

The following girls from Webster College took part: Misses Esthur Moore, Margaret Devine, Harriet Averill, Lucinda Clements and Catherine Hazel.

LEO MOSER MEDAL WON AT CONTEST BY COLLEGE JUNIOR.

Ray E. Krings, a junior in the Arts Department of St. Louis University, won the Leo Moser Medal at the annual Oratorical Contest held in the St. Louis University Auditorium, March 26.

The subject of Mr. Krings' oration was "The Constitution." James S. Clark was given honorable mention.

A large number of students from Webster College, chaperoned by Misses Esthur Moore and Lillian Donovan, attended the contest.

The Ore services will be held from noon until three o'clock at the New Cathedral, Lindell and Newstead, and the College Church, as well as other Catholic churches throughout the city. Rev. Michael I. Stritch, S. J. of St. Louis University, will preach the sermon at the College Church.

Age comes before Beauty--at least to some women.

LOVE-LORN CORNER

NERINX HALL NEWS

Dear Editor:

I am distressed most to death and must have my great problem solved I cannot dare go to my mother for it would ruin her Easter.

You, then, Dear Confidant are my next most trusted friend and your advice has always been my rule of life. My present trial is that some of my bold classmates have been whispering about that there is no Easter Bunny.

Now even to consent to a doubt of this truth is to me a grave fault but what must I do when all about me hurl sarcastic remarks about my pet Bunny? Could my faith in him possibly be wrong OH! tell me please, I am so afraid he will forget my eggs.

Worried Senior.

Dear Worried Senior:

Now, my little girly you just ignore those foolish girls. Perhaps they are just jealous because the Bunny Rabbit is better to you than he is to them. Go home and build your nest in the same old way and he will not forget you, you bet.

Editor.

Dear Editor:

I am invited to attend the Freshman Spring Dance May 1. I must ask some gentleman to escort me and here is where the trouble lies. You see I have always raved about all my men and admirers to the other girls as if I were one of the most popular Debs.

But the real truth is I have not one friend that I could ask for this event. Now if there is any way out of this most embarrassing position won't you let me know immediately? All the girls are so anxious to see "My Man" who really is only imaginary.

Manless Freshie.

Dear Manless Freshie:

Plead a bursting headache, go to bed and DREAM about the dance. No one will know the difference.

Editor.

Dear Editor:

Please tell me how to make men love me?

Particular

Dear Particular:

Send me your picture, your measurements and your age first.

Editor.

-----W-----

Johnny- "Gee, our teacher's mean."

Mother- "You mustn't say that Johnny."

Johnny- "Well, she is, 'cause she borrowed my pocket knife to sharpen her pencil with, so's she could give me a bad mark."

Quarterly examinations were held at Nerinx Hall last week, beginning Monday, April 5. Reports will be issued Tuesday April 7.

Nerinx Hall played their first basket-ball game of the season, Monday night, April 5, in Idle Hour. Two teams were composed of the students called the Whites and Blues. Both teams showed splendid team work. The score was held a tie until the third quarter when the Blues gained two points over the Whites making the total score 14-12.

Misses Mary Haberl, Catherine Boone and Rose Malon were the week-end guests of Miss Dorothy Dahmus of Granite City, Illinois.

-----W-----

The Kansas preacher who make this announcement from his pulpit on a recent Sunday morning, should have his salary raised:

"Brethern, next Wednesday evening the janitor and I will hold our regular prayer meeting."

Zingo! Yamba! Wux!

Crawford: "So you can't understand why your boy in college flunked in all the foreign languages?"

Grabshaw: "No, it's a mystery to me. He picked up all the college yells in no time."

"Well, who's been waiting the longest?" asked the physician cheerfully as he opened the door of his consultation office.

"I think I have, doctor," said a tailor arising and presenting a bill. "I delivered your clothes three years ago."

Cynic-- "What do you think of this column of honor you are now reading?"

Diplomat-- "Well, I would say that anyone with fever blisters and cracked lips could read it without fear of pain."

"Miss X", said the office manager apologetically to his stenographer one morning, "I would prefer that you do not write letters to your young man friend during office hours. Smith & Jones report that we have sent them a shipment of love and kisses instead of the tar and axle grease they ordered."

Chem. Professor, Absented-- Poured soup on her corn bread and drank her syrup. Who is our Chem. Professor?

-----W-----

As we go to press, Miller is winning.

CAMPUS NEWS

The Sophomore Class will entertain the Seniors of Webster College and Nerinz Hall with a Tea Dance at the Chase Hotel, May 16 from 4:30 until 7:30 P. M.

Other arrangements have not been decided upon.

Miss Theo Fehlig entertained her club with a bridge Saturday afternoon April 4, at her home 5610 Chamberlin Ave.

Miss Florence Cook of Edina, Mo. was the guest of the Misses Gladys and Lillian O'Connor of Webster College April 4-5.

Miss Pauline Stiritz of Alton, Ill. spent the week end at Webster College with her sister Jeanette.

Miss Emma Kohl of Belleville, Ill. was the week end guest of her sister Frances.

Mr. Herbert Monarch of Owensboro visited his sister Margaret and cousin Dorothy April 5, at Webster College.

Some of the College girls who will spend the Easter holidays at home are:

Miss Lucinda Clemens, Owensboro, Ky.
Miss Dorothy Venewitz, Fairfield, Ill.
Misses Helen McGuire and Margaret Peters, Sterling, Ill.

Misses Gretchen Fegers and Beatrice Stack, Keokuk, Iowa.

Miss Gene Corcoran, Elvina, Mo.
Misses Anna DeLay and Helen Hadsell, Kansas City, Mo.

Miss Pearl Farrell, Ponca City, Okla.
Miss Juanita Abell, Erie, Kansas.

Miss Edith Glossmeyer, O'Fallon, Mo.
Miss Jeanette Stiritz, Alton, Ill.

Miss Virginia Walsh will visit her brother John Walsh at Cumberland University, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Margaret Reddin will be the guest of Miss Helen Fogg of Hammond, Ind.

Miss Marta Brown will visit Miss Virginia Stephens of St. Louis.

Miss Alfreda Barnickel will go to St. Mary's College, Kansas for the Prom Tuesday night.

Miss Laura Archer, a college Freshman, has been ill for two weeks in the infirmary. The girls of Webster College extend their sympathy to her and hope for a speedy recovery.

INTERESTING FACT BROUGHT OUT BY BRIGHT STUDENT.

Mary:--"Damn it all! There goes the bell for class. Why can't that bell ever break?"

Margaret:--"What are you crabbing about? Do you know that I can show you that you don't ever go to class. Look here.

There are 260 days in a school year. Of these, 74 are Saturdays and Sundays which leaves 186 days. Now on these days you have to allow one hour for Mass, 3 hours for meals, one hour for dressing in the morning and for prayers and undressing at night, and one and a half hours after four o'clock that is spent in Old Orchard or other wild amusements which amounts to six and one half hours. We have at least three hours during the day and after supper for study, bringing us to a total of nine and a half hours per day, or 2,470 hours per school year. Now dividing by 16 hours (because we are not including the eight hours sleep) we have 155 days. Subtracting this from 186 we have 31 days left. But we have 15 holidays: Annunciation, Ascension, five days at Easter, All Saints' Day, Decoration Day two days at Thanksgiving, Field Day and Seven Dolers. The remaining 16 days we spend at Christmas any where but in class.

Now there I haven't said a word about the hours that classes might be out. But I suppose since we really never spend any time in class we can't count hours that classes are skipped. Now will you please tell me why you are complaining." Mary:--(just a little dazed) "Uh-hgh, Well let's hurry or we'll be late for class."

-----W-----

PICTURES NO ARTIST COULD PAINT

Jayne Ledwidge, tall and blond,
Agnes Tuschmidt, not smiling.
Sis Parker, in a gingham apron.
Pearl Broderick, at breakfast without her Greek book.

Anna DeLay with red hair.
Loretto Maloney, in class to answer roll call.

Frances Kohl, not enjoying bridge.
Nan Shallcross, on time for French.
Helen McNulty, serious and sedate.
Helen B. Not with Helen H.
Ervilla Hixn not knowing her lessons.
La Verne Bopp, in a hurry.
Dorothy McBride, missing anything.
Mary Tancred, not knowing everything.
Helen McGuire, wasting her time.

WEB WIT

Editor's Note: All contributions should be handed in on tissue paper so that the editor can see through them.

Girl: "It's very good of you to ask me to dance."

Boy: "Don't mention it. This is a Charity Ball."

Teacher (after writing LXXX on the board) "What does that mean?"

Girl: "Love and Kisses, of course."

*---W---

IF I WERE A MAN

If I were a man

I'd buy a girl some candy once in a while and flowers too.

I wouldn't ask her to a show unless I could get the best seats in the house.

I'd ask her to a dance at least two weeks ahead of time so she could have the pleasure of anticipation.

I'd tell her all the nice things the other fellows said about her.

In fact, if I were a man, I'd be just wonderful to a girl and I'd be just crazy about me.

----W----

"Waiter, this coffee is nothing but thick, liquid mud."

"Yes, sir; certainly sir. It was ground this morning."

Will--"Why can't a bald-headed negro join a secret order?"

Louise--"I don't know."

Will--"He's black bald."

Parson--"Do you take this woman for bettah or wuss?"

George--"Wall, sah, I dunno. Her folks says it's bettah and my folks says it's wuss."

Do you think the elevator boy stole your watch?

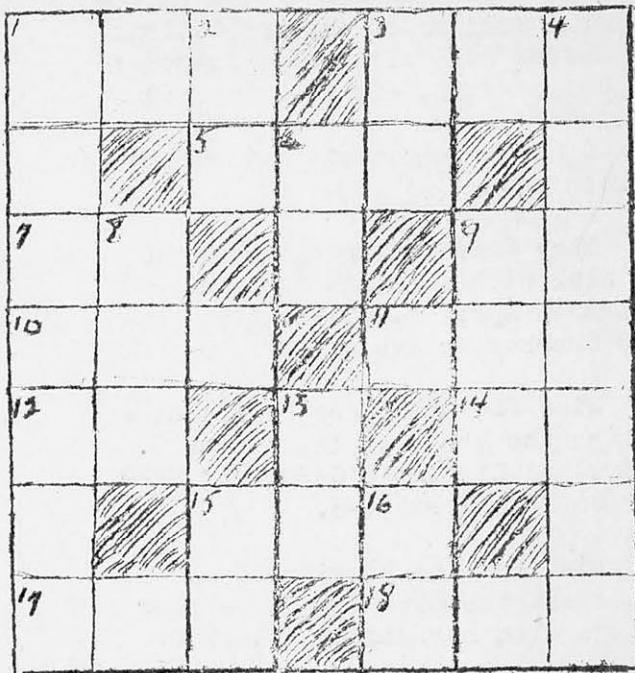

Well, he swore up and down that he didn't.

A lawyer was arguing with a physician over the relative merits of their respective professions.

"I don't say that all lawyers are villians," said the doctor, "but you'll admit that your profession doesn't make angels of men."

"No," retorted the lawyer, "you doctors certainly have the best of us there."

WEB CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

HORIZONTAL

- 1. School Newspaper.
- 3. What Freshies have most of.
- 5. Three vowels.
- 7. Part of the verb "exist."
- 9. Railroad. (abbr.)
- 10. What we call a dumb boy friend.
- 11. Babe Ruth's tool in a ball game.
- 12. "Tea for Two" (abbr)
- 14. 3.1416
- 15. Our ancestor (according to Darwin)
- 17. What one does to get in trim for Field Day.
- 18. Possessive pronoun.

VERTICAL

- 1. Name of our Alma Mater
- 2. Same as horizontal no. 7.
- 3. The one who signs the checks. (abbr)
- 4. What we love to go to.
- 6. An exclamation.
- 8. Some thing we can't do much of during Lent.
- 9. What we have to do before Mother Edith opens her dooe.
- 13. Upon.
- 15. Indefinite article.
- 16. "That is." (abbr)

----W----

SHOWS

- GAYETY: Jimmie Cooper's Black and White Revue.
- GARRICK: Stolen Sweets.
- COLISEUM: Dog Show
- SHUBERT-JEFFERSON: Abie's Irish Rose.
- AMERICAN: Rain.
- ORPHEUM: CHIEF Sale
- MISSOURI: Code of the West.
- NEW GRAND CENTRAL: Her night of Romance.
- LOEW'S: Daddy's Gone a Hunting.

THE WEB

Volume 1

WEBSTER COLLEGE APRIL 23, 1925

No. 12

LORETTO PLAYERS OF WEBSTER COLLEGE PRESENT TWO ONE-ACT PLAYS.

"AN OLD ROMANCE" AND "THE FAR-AWAY PRINCESS" GIVEN WITH GREAT SUCCESS

The Loretto Players of Webster College under the direction of Mrs. Anna McClain Sankey presented two one-act plays in the College Little Theatre Thursday evening, April 18.

The first play "An Old Romance" by Louise Van Voorhis Armstrong, had its setting in the Queen's palace on a strange, mysterious island. The Webster players presented this pantomime plot with a finished perfection of facial expressions and costume detail. The slave's dance of long dark night ending in death by her own hand gave the heynote of fatalistic unhappiness. The silhouette of the selfish queen, alone, at eventide with the magic talisman gazing towards the sea and never smiling was an artistic touch from a background of skilled lighting effect.

The second play, "The Far-Away Princess" by Hermann Sudermann, with its stage setting in an inn, situated above a watering-place in central Germany, was a very difficult play, well handled. The action was not so complex and the success of the presentation rested in modulations, inflection and spontaneities of tone qualities. The best acted moments of the play were when Fritz Strubel, the student, discovered the identity of the companionable maid at the Inn. A natural kindness of the Princess' heart was halted by an inherent sense of regality, and the student betrayed the poignant reality of the love which he had boasted was far-away and only a pleasurable sensation.

The casts were as follows:

"An Old Romance"

The Lady Who Reads	Dorothy Dahmus
The Slave Who Dances	Margaret Reddin
The Queen	Mary Haberal
The Prince	Agnes Griffin
	Adele Burkhart
The Queen's Attendants	Margaret Peters
	Helen Heisserer
Accompanist	Dorothy Monarch

SOPHOMORE CLASS GIVE SUCCESSFUL VAUDEVILLE PRESENTATION

SKETCHES, UNDER DIRECTION OF MISS ROSE BINDEWALD? DRAWS HUGE CROWD

A capacity audience filled the College Auditorium last night when the Sophomore Class presented a vaudeville show under the direction of Miss Rose Bindewald. Departing from the usual classical type of the Little Theatre presentations an up-to-the-minute program was offered with great success.

The top-notch feature of the program was the negro farce "The Spades" with Juanita Abell as Ma; Miss Helen Fogg as Pa, an Old negro man who caused just a little surprise as he puffed on his old corn-cob pipe. Miss Margaret Peters was a typical lazy negro boy. The other two members of the Spade family, Snow White and Lily, played by Misses Mildred Hennage and Rose Bindewald were greeted with the best response.

The most professional act of the evening was the "Divertissements" by Misses Margaret Reddin and Mildred Hennage featuring "The Spaniard" and Valse D'Amour and the solo Au Printemps.

Misses Rose Bindewald and Juanita Abell, a young colonial couple, assisted by four charming colonial maids furnished a wealth of entertainment with so song hits and several novelty steps.

Miss Jeanne Murphy was in charge of costumes; Misses Mary Tancred and Dorothy Monarch were on the Publicity Committee and the ticket sale was handled by Misses Marie Hart and Virginia Walsh.

"The Fatal Quest" was the first act on the program and was the first "uproarious tragedy." Miss Louise Murphy as the beautiful princess and the Duke, played by Miss Violet Barnicle were the very much in earnest lovers. The parts of the pompous King and the devoted Queen were excellently portrayed by Misses Dorothy McBride and Edith Glosmeyer.

"The Beau of Bath" was a very beautiful but serious sketch, with Misses Theresa Shea, Dorothy Vanevitz and Virginia Stephens in the cast.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor Rosamond Smith
 City Editor Mary Lynn
 Sport Editor Jeanette Stiritz
 News Editor Virginia Stevens
 Circulation Mgr. Adele Burkhardt

COPY READERS AND REPORTERS

Mary Tancred Agnes Tuchschnidt
 Genevieve Barthel Dorothy Monarch

EDITORIAL COLUMN

SOPHOMORE VAUDEVILLE

The Vaudeville performance which was given Wednesday night by the Sophomores brought out the abundance of talent and cooperation that the students of Webster College possess.

The Vaudeville was one of the most successful undertakings of the college, and the fact that it was entirely under the direction of the students brings all the more honor to Webster. The Sophomores are to be complimented also upon the high financial returns, as over 400 people attended.

Mrs. Anna McClain Senkey, however deserves a great deal of credit for the wonderful work she has done the past few years in the Dramatic Art Department which enabled the girls to "put over" the production without any supervision.

The Vaudeville was an unusual undertaking as it was the first time a non-classical production has been given by the college students for the public.

WEB DEFICIT

The Journalism Class of Webster College which has been publishing the WEB regrets to announce that the paper is in debt $10.82. The various members of the staffs have worked very diligently trying to make the paper a success and one that would be worthy of Webster College. We have been hindered, of course by the lack of funds which prevented us from putting out a printed paper.

We have always made over a hundred copies of the WEB and sold them at five cents; however, we have never collected more than $2.50 from any one issue. This, we believe, is because many of the girls do not have their little nickels with them when the papers are distributed, but promise to pay later, but forget about it.

The Journalism Class has been taxed to meet the deficit, but unless the girls who buy papers remember to pay for them, the WEB will never be able to pay for itself.

JOURNALISM AS A FIELD FOR WOMEN

Journalism is rapidly coming to be recognized as a field for women; perhaps a larger field than may be found in any of the other prominent professions.

According to figures recently compiled nearly one-fourth of the practicing journalists of the United States are women. This includes authors, editors and reporters, but does not include those women who work in publishing and newspaper offices doing work other than writing.

Journalism is an appropriate profession for women, and one which should appeal to women a great deal. We have often been called the "tale-gatherers" or "gossip hunters", and indeed we are. When two women meet on the street, as soon as greetings are exchanged, almost invariably one asks the other if she has any news to tell. Usually the other woman responds with enthusiasms, but if she does not, the first speaker will come forth with an amazing supply of interesting facts. Women seem to have been instinct for news and the relating of interesting events, which after all is very essential in Journalism.

THE WHY OF "THE WEB"

When asked why we named our paper "THE WEB", our quick retort is to explain that it is the diminutive form of Webster. There is no double meaning to-- no fly and spider reasons.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

When callers come and bother me
 I wear a sweet and silly smile,
 How queer they's feel if they could see
 The wicked thoughts I think the while.

Yield not to flirtation, for flirting is sin,
 Some sister will help you her brother to win,
 Fight manfully onward, dark lashes subdue
 Don't run after the boys, girls, let them run after you.

The Web Staff wish to announce that they have obtained consent from the Dean for a holiday, Saturday, May 30. Hurrah for the Web Staff.

Father: "Look here, my dear, I don't mind you sitting up late with that young man of yours, but I DO object to his taking my morning papers when he goes."

"What do you call him--the man who directs the staging of the play?"-Teacher
 "Why, stage coach, of course."-Helen.

CARD PARTY GIVEN BY SENIORS

The Senior Class of Webster College gave a card party Monday evening April 20, in the Recreation Room of the college. The purpose of the party was to raise money for the class treasury.

Miss Louise Murphy won the first prize which was a hammered silver ~~pan-~~ compact and the second prize which was a mahogany end table was won by Miss Virginia Stephens. Misses Lucille McGrath, Ellen Casey and Margaret Monarch also won prizes.

Ice cream and cake was served during the evening.

---W---

SISTERS' TRIP THROUGH SOUTH

Sisters Mary Eustachia and Sister Mary Joseph returned to Webster College Easter Monday morning after a three weeks trip to the South.

The object of this trip was to solicit new pupils and to make Webster College well known among the Woutherners. The Sisters say the prospects are fine and we hope to welcome many Southern girls next fall.

Sister Eustachia sent a collection of shells, sea weed and other plants to the Botany and Biology Classes and gave interesting lectures to her pupils on the wonders of the South.

---W---

WORLD FAMOUS SHAKESPEAREAN SCHOLAR
C. E. W. GRIFFITH, DIES

C. E. W. Griffith, internationally known Shakespearean reader who has frequently appeared at Webster College, died March 31 at St. Anthony's Hospital in Oklahoma City. The body was taken through St. Louis to West Farmington, Ohio.

Griffith had given readings in practically every college of the United States. He had a repertoire of thirty-six plays. He was as well known in England as in this country and had recently given recitals at Cambridge Oxford and Eton.

Griffith was fifty-nine years of age, but looked much younger. Many years ago, he slipped on a steamer deck and broke his hip. Later paralysis developed, but he continued with his work.

He was a convert to the Catholic Church and was a member of the Knights of Columbus.

---W---

The Freshman Class announces that their Spring Dance has been postponed until Friday May 8.

MISS JOHNSON TO SPEND SUMMER ABROAD
MRS. DILLON ALSO TO SUMMER IN EUROPE

Miss Betty Johnson, instructor of Journalism at Webster College, will spend the summer abroad. She will sail on the MAURETANIA from New York June 24 with a party of friends. They will spend from three to four weeks in Paris and will visit all the interesting and picturesque spots of France. Later they will go to England and will spend a month in London. They will sail from Liverpool the latter part of August after an extended tour of the continent.

Miss Johnson has obtained a leave of absence from the Globe-Democrat where she is a feature writer, and upon her return in the fall will resume her journalistic work.

Mrs. Daniel Dillon of Washington D. C., formerly instructor of Journalism at Webster College, will also spend the summer in Europe. She will chaperone a group of young ladies, among whom are Misses Theo Monti and Adelaide Gross, former students of Webster College, and Miss Pearl Farrell, a Freshman of Webster College.

---W---

SOPHOMORE STUDENTS GO ON OLD FASHIONED PICNIC

The picnicing season is on in full swing; or to put it in the words of the gray horse stabled at Lock ood "my drag is on."

On Saturday morning the gallant gray horse hitched to the fashionable, gardening wagon was driven under the "porte cochere" of Webster College. Several girls in smart overalls and knickers, chaperoned by Sister Marie Anthony, marshalled themselves into the vehicle and were off to the woods.

A gay ride brought the party into the depths of the thick woods. Steaks were broiled over an open fire and coffee made. Elaborate costume pictures were taken; the rest of the afternoon was spent picking violets.

Those in the party were Sister Marie Anthony, Mildred Hennage, Mary Tancred, Dorothy Venewitz, Margaret Reddin, Virginia Walsh, Margaret Peters and Dorothy Monarch.

---W---

Friday morning at 11:30, Mr. Curtis, of the Department of Physical Education of Missouri University, will inspect the Athletic Class at Idle Hour. Mr. Curtis will speak to the entire Student body during assembly on "Physical Education and the Necessity of it for Teachers."

LOVE LORN CORNER

Dear Editor: I am in love with thirty five beautiful women--more or less. The person to whom I am married forced me to leave the town where my innamoratas are languishing. I saw them every week or oftener and miss them more every day. My heart is breaking. What would you advise. M. D. Dill, Washington, D. C.

Dear M. D. Dill: I would suggest that you visit your loves once in a while, or at least let them hear from you lest you be forgotten. What does one husband matter, when thirty five young women are at stake? I have a feeling that those persons are missing you quite a bit too, so take my advice and keep close to them. Editor.

Dear Editor: I am a talented singer and dancer and I would like to have an opportunity to appear in public. The Sophomore class are giving a Vaudeville and I have been very much put out that they did not invite me to participate in it. My best acts are some very good songs, "Maggie, I am Growing Old" "In the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia" "Lullaby Song" and "I Sat in a Hammock and Smoked a Cigar"; and my favorite dance is "Turkey in the Straw." Will you please tell me why I have not been chosen? Ambitious.

Dear Ambitious: If I were you I would not waste my time in amateur vaudeville but would try out for the Orpheum Circuit at once. Editor.

---W---

Continued from Page 1.

"The Far-Away Princess"

Princess Von Gildern	Virginia Walsh
Baroness von Brook	Violet Barnicle
her maid of honor.
Frau Von Halldarf	Lillian O'Connor
Liddy, a daughter	Rosemary O'Connor
Milly, her other daughter	Adele Burkhart
Fritz Strubel, a student	Genevieve Barthl
Frau Lindemann	Le Verne Bopp
Rosa, a waitress	Margaret Peters

---W---

IS THIS PROGRESS?

Freshman: I don't know
 Sophomore: I can't say.
 Junior: I am not prepared to speak.
 Senior: I don't believe I can add anything to what has been enunciated.

NERINX HALL NEWS

The day students of the Senior Class conducted a candy sale for the missions Friday, April 18. It was quite a success and they are to be commended for their good work.

A surprise luncheon and bridge was given for Miss Rosemary O'Reilly Saturday afternoon by Miss Margaret Mary Parker at her home. A number of Seniors were included in the guest list. The table was decorated in the class colors and the favors were orchid sweet peas tied with orchid and silver ribbon. Miss Thelma Coyne assisted in serving.

The Senior Class wish to express their gratitude for the kind invitation the Freshman class extended to them for the Spring Dance which will be given at Algonquin Country Club May 8. They also wish to thank the Sophomores for their invitation to the Tea Dance which will be given at Hotel Chase, May 16.

Nerinx Hall cooperated greatly to promote the success of the Sophomore Vaudeville, which they said was certain to be more than a success.

The Students of Nerinx Hall, and especially the Freshmen and Juniors, wish to extend their sincere sympathy to Misses Catherine and Mary V. Cummins on the sudden death of their mother, Mrs. Virginia M. Cummins.

---W---

THE NEW REGULATIONS

Weep, weep bitter tears, ye Webster College girls, for steps have been taken to enforce the fatal threat.

At the recent Faculty Meeting, every Sister in the College was authorized to give campus marks to any girl she hears talking in loud tones or shouting in the corridors. Three such campus marks mean a campus for the entire weekend of the week the third mark is given.

The day has dawned now, when the meaning full little word sh-h-h will not be uttered as a warning but in its place will come your name and a nice little check beside it on the campus list.

The good old sh-h-h days are gone forever so we we must make the best of it and walk through the corridors on tip-toe and with pursed lips.

---W---

Everyone can hope--but it's hope and courage that brings results.

EUROPEAN SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED TO WEBSTER COLLEGE STUDENTS

The American Council on Education is offering eight $1,000 scholarships which will enable American college and university students who are in their Sophomore year to study abroad.

The scholarships will pay the winners' tuition for one year in a foreign university. The thousand dollars, however, provides for the tuition alone, the other expenses such as traveling, board, personal and so forth, must be maintained by the students.

Application forms may be secured from the office of the American Council on Education, 26 Jackson Place, Washington, D. C., and when properly filled out should be sent to that office not later than May 1.

In order to be eligible to receive one of these scholarships, a student must be not less than eighteen years of age, must have been in residence for a period of two academic years at an American Institution approved by the American Council on Education, and must expect to return to his American College to take his degree. During his college career he must have given evidence of sound health, as known by the college health officer; high mentality, as exhibited by mental tests and scholastic records; seriousness of purpose, as shown by a somewhat definite plan for his career; intellectual interests and attainments, as proved by his use of leisure as well as working hours, intellectual promise, as suggested in the foregoing and other ways to his instructors; high moral character and loyalty to American Institutions.

Selection of scholars will be made immediately after May 1. Announcement of awards will be made as soon as possible.

---W---

FATHER WISE VISITS COLLEGE

Father A. R. Wise, S. J., brother of Sister Louise, Dean of Webster College was the guest of the college Monday, April 15.

He arrived early Monday morning, coming from Kansas City, Mo. where he conducted Tre Ore Services Good Friday.

He said Mass in the Chapel of All Saints at 8:30.

After dinner he left the college for the city where he spent the remainder of the day with his father, Charles Wise. He returned to Kansas City in the Evening.

---W---

Mrs. Dillon says: "My secret with the Journalism class, 'THE WEB' is the seventh W!" "

MUSIC NOTES

Misses Lucienne Iberger and Margaret Tiernon will give a joint recital, April 29 in the College Auditorium. Miss Iberger will interpret an unusually brilliant arrangement of piano numbers and Miss Tiernon will be accompanied in her vocal selections by Miss Dorothy Monarch. Miss Tiernon will receive her Bachelor of Music Degree in May and Miss Iberger will receive Conservatory diploma for advanced proficiency in piano work.

A brilliant musical program will be given by the Conservatory students on May 10 in the College Auditorium. Elaborate piano, vocal, orchestra, and choral numbers have been arranged.

The students of Webster College Conservatory will broadcast an especially arranged program from Station K. S. D. on the night of May 11. The advanced students of the Conservatory will take part in the piano and vocal selections.

"Stop! Look!" and don't forget to "Listen in!"

---W---

FATHER DANIEL LORD AND WEBSTER
GIRLS MEET AGAIN

Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J. gave the discourses at services held on Good Friday at St. Patrick's Church, East St. Louis. He came from Milwaukee where he preached Lenten sermons at the different churches throughout the city.

Rev. P. J. Byrne, pastor of St. Patrick's, and the Sisters of Loretto who have charge of the parish school, expressed their pleasure at the opportunity of having Father Lord to conduct the services. They reserved pews in the church for the Sisters and girls from Webster College. After the service Father Lord, the Sisters and girls from Webster College went to the priest's home for a short visit.

Father Lord visited at Webster College on Easter Sunday. Dinner was served and the afternoon spent in pleasant reminiscing. He left for Chicago Sunday night to spend several days with his mother, Mrs. George D. Lord of Oak Park. From there he will return to Cleveland, Ohio to complete his tertianship.

---W---

Mary Rhodes Hall of Webster College underwent an operation for appendicitis September 33. The Operation was successful. Funeral services from her home, 711 Crap St. Pensyltucky.

THE WEB

Volume 1

WEBSTER COLLEGE MAY 8 1925

No. 11

NOTED LECTURER SPEAKS AT WEBSTER COLLEGE

James Joseph Walsh, prominent lecturer, spoke at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., Monday night, April 28. The subject of his lecture was "Mendel and the Laws of Heredity." The Student body and patrons of the College attended.

In his lecture Dr. Walsh, by interesting practicalities, gave an account of the theory put forward by Robert Mendel, or Augustinian monk, at St. Thomas, Brunn, and the influence of his work during the past ten years. "Mendel", he said, "conferred his experiments to plants and his most important observations were made on the pea-plant. In the case of the pea-plant he observed that some were tall, some dwarf in habit, some had round seeds, some wrinkled." By a process of cross-fertilization, Mendel found that the recession or dwarfish plant was not wiped out but temporarily obscured in the second generation though present at all time potentially. To the character which alone appears in the first cross he gave the name "dominant," and in this instance tallness was dominant. He found that the recessives of the third generation after self-fertilization breed true when uninterfered with and that the dominants, after the same process produce both recessive and dominant.

Such are in brief, the outlines of Dr. Walsh's interesting lecture. Details incident to his profession were cleverly brought out.

Dr. Walsh has received degrees from University of Georgetown, Washington, D. C. Notre Dame and University of Paris, Vurra and Berlin. His scientific books point to him as one of the eminent authorities of the day.

---W---

Matter for the Social Science Class.
Every day thousands of families are changing to Better Crust Bread.

Ford ought to make a good president because he has the making of another Lincoln. Besides, he's carried half the country, already.

MISSION MEETING HELD AT WEBSTER COLLEGE

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade was held at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., Sunday May 3. After the meeting the students of Webster College served tea and took the visitors through the building. All the representatives of the various units met to discuss the pageant which is to be held May 21.

The performance will be a public exemplification of the Crusade's Ritual of Initiation--a ceremony in which a class of Junior members will be admitted into Senior Units of the organization. The ceremony is cast in the form of a brilliant and colorful spectacle of medieval times. Five hundred students will be on the stage in costume to take part in the Initiation. The music will be played by Noel Poepping's orchestra, and over nine thousand people are expected to witness the spectacle. Based on the ancient ceremony by which the order of knighthood was conferred upon the deserving aspirants, the Ritual will be divided into eight episodes. A short description of each episode and of its function follows.

During the overture the Candidate clad in the dress of thirteenth century, squires and maidens, assemble for the ceremony. At the Municipal Theatre there are two small plots of lawn that lie immediately behind the orchestra pit and serve to separate the stage from the audience. It is here that the Candidates for Initiation assemble, in full view of the audience but leaving the huge stage bare.

---W---

If the growing popularity of divorce continues it won't be long before people request return engagements.

Mary had a chaperone;
Her dates were few and slow,
For everywhere that Mary went
That Chap was sure to go.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Managing Editor	Laura Archer
City Editor	Virginia Stephos
Sport Editor	Nan Shallcross
News Editor	Carrie Dziatsko

Reporters

Agnes Tuchschnidt	Mary Lynn
Celeste Block	Adele Burkart
Dorothy Monarch

Copy Readers

Mary Lynn	Rosamond Smith
Circulation Manager	Adele Burkart

EDITORIAL COLUMN

DOING OUR BIT

Webster College is now nearing the end of it's ninth scholastic year. Since it was first established our school has continued to thrive steadily. Unlike many other colleges of such recent organization, Webster has already maintained a very high standing, and it is recognized through out a vast educational sphere as being an institution of tone and worth.

Throguh the untiring efforts of the Faculty and the hearty cooperation of the girls we were admitted to the North Central Association of Colleges. At present we enjoy the singular privilege of attending the only Catholic College for Women in the state of Missouri, which has obtained membership in this select association. This alone should make us feel proud of our Alma Mater for our degrees will now be recognized throughout the entire nation.

As a token of our appreciation let us show our loyalty by doing our bit toward trying to increase the college enrollment for next year. While our Seniors of '25, will not be with us at school next year, they can help us very materially, they can not only reflect much credit upon the school as good alumnae members, but they can and must secure other students to take their places.

Let's all boost for Webster and in this way we will add quantity to the quality that is already ours.

---W---

Prof: "How do you know Chaucer dictatd to stenographer?"

Stud: "Just look at the Spelling."

Sr. Edwards: "What is a reducing ageny?"

Stud: "Love."

ANNUAL TEA GIVEN AT WEBSTER COLLEGE

Webster College extended a cordial welcome to all the Catholic high schools and academies of St. Louis, when it entertained with a tea on Wednesday afternoon May 6, from three to five o'clock.

It has become a custom for the college to entertain once a year, all the Catholic high school graduates and their alumnae, in an effort to stimulate in them a desire for higher Catholic Education.

The Juniors of Webster College acted as hostesses on this occasion and exerted themselves in every way possible to make this visit to Webster College a pleasant one. The Seniors entertained the Presidents of the different alumnae while the Sophomores acting as guides, conducted the visitors through the entire building. The Freshmen did "their bit" as usual in entertaining. They served the guests with tea and cakes in the auditorium.

Rev. G. B. Donnelly, S. J. Addressed this large assembly in the auditorium on the advantages of a Catholic College Education. Father Donnellit impressed upon his audience the great need for educated Catholic women and what a great thing such an education means in the life of every true Catholic woman in meeting the necessary difficulti of life.

---W---

TRACK MEET TO BE HELD AT ARCADIA

News of the good work and successful achievements of Webster College in the athletic field has traveled.

This year an invitation came from Arcadia College, Arcadia Mo., asking Webster College to meet them in a track meet to be held there May 23.

Webster College has accepted the invitation and practice has begun under the splendid supervision of Miss Lucy Reynolds, Director of Physical Education.

The events scheduled are, High Jumping, Running and Broad Jumping, 60 Yard Dash, Relay Race, Shot Put, Base-Ball and Bas et-Ball Throw. A Basket-ball game will follow these events.

The team is as follows:

Misses Harriot Averill, Juanita Abell, Pauline Schockloe, Virginia McClung, Celeste Block, Dorothy Dahmus and Genevieve Barthel.

---W---

"Now Benny, can you spell "avoid"?"
"Sure! Vot is der Void?"

FRESHMAN DANCE

Friday evening our first school dance of the season will take place at the Algonquin Club. This Spring Dance is an annual affair given by the Freshman in honor of the College and Academy Seniors.

Over 375 bids have been sent out and from the number of acceptances received a large crowd is expected. A fine orchestra has been engaged for the evening and from the enthusiasm of the students a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

The Chaperones will be as follows: Mr. & Mrs. J. T. Mc Anulty, Mrs Anna McClain Sankdy, Mr. Harry McClain, Misses Lucy Reynolds, Catherine O'Reilly, Marcelle Prevost, Katherine Skarry and Gertrude Wahrer.

---W---

MISS PETERS TO TRY FOR FOREIGN SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Margaret Peters, a Webster College sophomore, is competing in a national contest under the direction of the American Council on Education. This association is offering eight $1000 scholarships which will enable college and university students who are in their sophomore year to study abroad.

Miss Peters was required to take a difficult mental test and to write an autobiography. Sister Mazarina who conducted and graded the test, reports that she passed very creditable.

Her report of the test, together with Miss Peters' school record and autobiography have been forwarded to headquarters at Washington, D. C. Announcement of the awards will be made as soon as possible.

----"-----

SOPHOMORE TEA DANCE

The sophomores will entertain the Seniors of Webster College and Nerinx Hall with a Tea Dance from 4:00 till 7:30 o'clock at the Hotel Chase Saturday afternoon May 16. Invitations have been received by the Freshman and Junior Classes.

The Varsity Club nine piece orchestra has been secured for the afternoon and the Roof Garden which has been beautifully redecorated for the summer season will be open to the public for the first time this year.

---W---

The skin a woman "loves to touch" is an ermine's.

MISS DENYVAN ADDRESSES
JOURNALISM CLASS

Miss Marian Denyvan of the Publicity Department of the St. Louis, Globe Democrat, addressed the class in Journalistic Writing, Monday, May 4. She chose as her subject: "Advertising and it's Different Fields."

Miss Denyvan opened her talk by enumerating several of the different fields in advertising, namely: Magazine and Newspaper advertising, Out-Door signs and IN-Door signs, and Miscellaneous advertisements.

"Advertising," said Miss Denyvan, "holds opportunities for everyone-- from the commercial artist to the college student, who often fills a position in the research department. It is an especially broad field for women."

"The average time that a business man spends on a daily newspaper is fifteen minutes, hence in order to attract attention, the advertising must be simple, attractive and in bold type."

Miss Denyvan explained many phases of advertising and her talk was delivered in such a way as to be both informative and attractive.

---W---

SNIP! SNIP! SNIP!

Lock after lock falls before the scissors devastating and unrelenting progress. The victim sits with bated breath and bats her eyes not knowing whether to look or not to look. Waves of feeling pass through her; sometimes a sinking sensation, and then again an elevated surge of freedom, or maybe a feeling of having omitted an article of dress. At last it is over. The blinking eyes are opened wide and looking into the mirror, Martha Bradfish faced a pretty person of feminine charm.

Yes, they all flop sooner or later And in consequence Helen Hadsell, the barber, has decided to hang out a shingle.

---W---

IN MEMORY OF MRS. BARTHEL
There's a beautiful soul in heaven that left earth a few days ago and went to sing with the angels, and smile on her dear's here below
Although we know that they miss her-- that they long for the love that she's shown
We know that the grave is only a nest where heavenly wings are grown.

The students of the Loretta Conservatory of Webster College will Broadcast over the radio from station K. S. D. St. Louis Post Despatch Monday evening May 11.

The Piano and Vocal students of Loretta Conservatory will give a recital in the College auditorium, Sunday afternoon, May 10.

Miss Lucienne Iberger, Pianist and Miss Margaret Tiernon, Soprano, gave their Senior recital jointly, Wednesday evening, April 29, in the Webster College auditorium. Miss Dorothy Monarch was the accompanist.

Miss Iberger will receive her Concert Diploma in June, while Miss Tiernon will receive the degree of Bachelor of Music.

The Sophomore Class of Webster College will reproduce their vaudeville show at the K. of C. Hall in St. Charles, Mo. May 11, under the auspices of the Mothers' Club of Borromeo School. The program consists of songs, dancing, and two sketches, one decidedly serio-comic and the other in black face. Miss Rosa Bindewald of Atlanta Ga. A member of the class will not only direct the show but will also carry an important part in the cast.--Banner News.

---W---

WEBSTER GRADUATE IN RECEIVED INTO ORDER OF LORETTO

The first of Webster College Graduates to enter the Order of the Sisters of Loretto at the Foot of the Cross is Miss Mary Reddin A. B. '24. She was received into the order on April 25, Loretto Foundation Day and received the name, Sister Mary Cecille. Her Parents Mr. & Mrs. J. K. Reddin of Denver, Colorado and her sister Miss Margaret Reddin a sophomore at Webster College attended the ceremony.

---W---

Lost, Strayed or Stolen

One text book "Essential of Journalism" belonging to Miss Lillian O'Connor

One Chemistry note book belonging to Miss Anne Carr.

"Half a Rogue" a novel by Harold McGrath belonging to Miss Marguerite Barthel.

"Frazier and Squair French Grammar owned by Miss Harriet Averill.

If found return to Web Office.

On April 6, 1925, Father J. Donnell addressed the Students of Merinx Hall on the Initiation into the Mission Crusade of the Junior Members, at the Municipal Theatre May 21. Ten of the Merinx Hall Seniors will take part in the Initiation.

Merinx Hall Seniors are practicing for the annual class play which is to be presented June 4. This play "The Making of 1925" was written especially for this class by Rev. Daniel Lord, S. J. Miss Lucy Reynolds is supervising the dances for the play.

Miss Catherine Mueller will give a luncheon at the Chase Hotel, in honor of the Class of '25, on May 16.

Miss Margaret Monarch spent the Saturday and Sunday in St. Louis with her brother, D. D. Monarch of Owensboro, Kentucky.

---W---

Prof: "Is the world flat or round?"

Fosh: "Neither, Professor."

Prof: "Then what is it?"

Frosh: "Crooked, Professor."

Blind Dates---What they ask .
Fundamental necessities:

Is he tall?

Is he a good dancer?

Has he got a car?

Secondary considerations:

What fraternity does he belong to?

Has he got any common sense?

Do the men like him?

What are his future prospects?

An autoist raced with a south-bound train.

(Oh, Hear his widow sigh)

He thought he would win at the crossing,

But, Alas! it was only a tie.

Guest:- "Look here, the rain is simply pouring thru the roof of my bedroom. Summer Hotel Proprietor.- "Absolutely according to our prospectus, sir. Running water in every room.

Mrs. Brown:- (at dinner) "Marta, I wish you'd stop reaching for things. Haven't you a tongue?"

Marta: "Yes Mother, but my arm's longer."

"What would you say if I flunked four subjects."

Get out, you're fooling."

"That's what the Dean said."

CAMPUS NEWS

We, the bobbed-heads of Webster College, are glad to say that another girl has joined us. Good Luck to you Martha. May your hair be ever curly.

The Web wishes to extend congratulations to Miss Fogg on her wonderful success as a covalist. Her voice resounded through the college halls during the week-end when she sang, "All Alone". (Helen alone was campused over the week-end.)

Miss Helen Mae Heisserer and Miss Elizabeth Dauwalter were the guests of Mrs. Frederick Clamp of Kirkwood, Mo. last week-end.

Miss Edith Glossemeyer spent last week-end at her home in O'Fallon, MO.

Miss Virginia Walsh spent last week-end with Miss Marie Hart of St. Louis. Miss Hart was formerly a student at Webster College.

Father McNamara has shown his affection for the Sophomore Vaudeville by his request that the performance be repeated in St. Charles, Mo. The date has been set for May 11.

Miss Dorothy Vennewitz was a week-end guest of her aunt Mrs. H. W. Mark of 4309 Thirty-Seventh Street, St. Louis.

Mrs. D. Sullivan, 3905 Botanical, St. Louis was hostess to Miss Louise Eck for the week-end.

Mrs. J. R. Clemens of 37 Gray Webster Groves, Mo., entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in honor of the Seniors of Webster College and the Seniors of Maryville College.

The Faculty and Students of Webster College wish to offer sincerest sympathy to Misses Genevieve and Marguerite Barthel for the loss of their mother.

---W---

LOVE LORN COLUMN

Dear Editor: In great distress I seek your aid, I am deeply in love with a handsome blond soda water jerker, he finds no time for poor little me. I cannot account for his coldness as I am a pleasingly plump college girl weighing only 200lbs. I would love to make him a good wife. Shall I be forced to wait until Leap Year to obtain my Romeo? Or can you suggest some way for me to attract this blond of my affection sooner?--Chubby

Dear Chubby: While this advice may break your heart, fear not to give up your soda water jerker. Everything happens for the best. Perhaps if he liked you, he would lavish many fattening dainties on you, that would make you lose your graceful figure.--Editor.

Dear Editor: The Freshman dance is to be to-night. I knew no boy to ask, so one of the girls gave me a blind date. I am told that in order to make him "tick" I must give him a "line." Kindly advise me what a "line" means as being from the back woods I am not acquainted with all technical terms of city love.--Hickey.

Dear Hickey: There is quite a bit of red tape attached to leading a "blind date" by a "line." For full particulars kindly send me a self addressed envelope and a two cent stamp.--Editor.

Dear Editor: I am in love with John Smith a wealthy banker much older than I. He wants me to marry him but I am afraid my friends will think I am marrying him for his money. How can I let them think other wise? Loved One.

Dear Loved One: The banker to whom you refer has gone bankrupt. You are safe in marrying him because he resides in the POOR HOUSE.--Editor.

Dear Editor: I am madly in love with a famous actor. I believe he loves me too, although my friends say he is flirting with me. I cannot live without him, however, so I would like to know how I can set about winning him. I do not know anything about him except that he is married, but I don't see how he could possibly be happy because he looks at me with such adoring eyes and kisses me divinely, What shall I do to win him.--Natty.

Dear Natty: Wait patiently a few years and perhaps his wife will die of a broken heart.--Editor.

---W---

Gene is Pretty

Gene is sweet

She looks so little

But you should see her eat.

A woman writes that mischief causes dimples, and vice versa, sister.

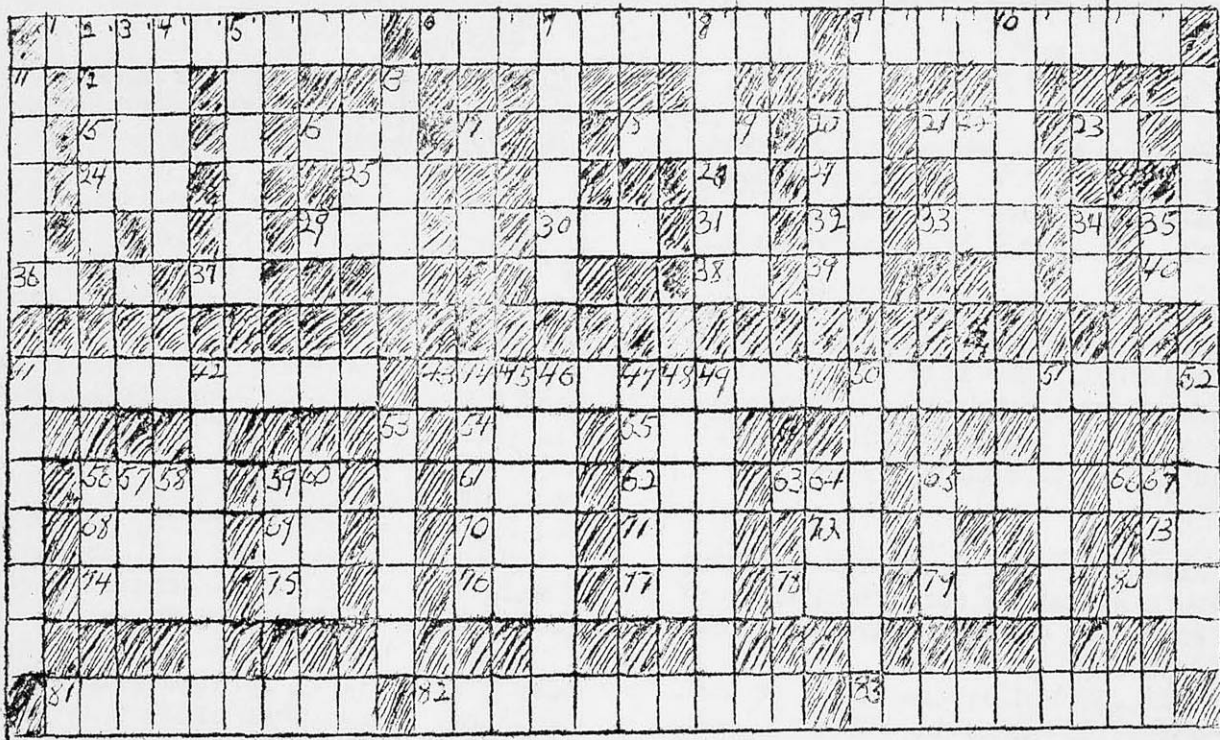

Ma: "Pa, we must send Johnny some spoons for his house."

Pa; "What's the matter now?"

Ma: "Well, he writes that at their dance they had to put a stick in the punch.

The more dishwater a wedding ring see the longer it seems to last.

Peroxide makes the hair grow blonder just as absence makes the heart grow fonder.

HORIZONTAL

1. One who denounces
6. Place to deposit something
9. Carrier of message
12. Intoxicating drink
15. Suffix in chemistry forming the name of certain hydrocarbons
16. What we do when caught
18. Passion aroused when caught having midnight feast.
20. What we have when we are sick
21. Grass land.
23. Pronoun
25. What Srl Salome gives us
26. Preposition
27. Correlative of either.
28. Ask Marta
29. Correlative of urp
30. Organ of the head used in exams
31. Where(French)
32. First two letters of French word laugh
33. Sound of distress
35. And(Latin)
38. Right (Abbr)
39. Vidy's brother
40. Mama (Abbr)
41. What most girls refuse to be
43. Dorothy Monarch
50. Manner in which we attend classes.
54. Somobody's man
55. Name of a stick
56. Flower
59. Part of verb to be
61. What Mrs. Sankoy teaches us to do
62. Ought to (abbr)
63. Expression of face, when we are broke.
65. Country in South America
66. Period of time
68. A direction
69. Negative
70. Black gooey substance
71. Letter of Greek alphabet

72. Part of the verb to be
73. Present era
74. Warm Material
75. Like
76. Organ of head
77. Fish
78. Delmar (abbr)
79. First word of a child
80. Definite article
81. What real estate men sell
82. Singular of Feet bridge
83. City in New York

VERTICAL

2. Way Miss Reynolds walks
3. What we dodge
4. Letter of Greek alphabet
5. -----Public
7. Element in the air
8. Oh Battor
9. City in Spain
10. Girl's name
11. None of these at W. C.
13. Boy's name
14. Name of a Freshie
19. To box
20. Comparative term
22. Organ of the head
34. Plural pronoun
35. Printer's measure
41. What we all try to be for our School
42. Cuddled 44. To quiet
45. To rot. 48 Beg.
47. What the most romantic os us would like to do.
48. A flexible twig or branch
49. Certain food that brings mico
51. Term in Chemistry
50. One who models
52. The way some fellows get
53. Funny. 56. I won't walk (abbr)
57. Car we don't mind riding in
58. Is so (Abbr) 59. What we write with
60. Same old stuff
64. Nickname for Abraham
65. Dirty word. 67. A cheer.

THE WEB

Volume 1

Webster College, May 25, 1925

No 14

To The Class '25

On June the third, the Class of '25 of Webster College will be graduated. Their years at Webster College are over and each one will leave her Alma Mater with regret, wishing that she was only beginning her college career instead of ending it. But the Senior Class should be proud of their real accomplishments which are so successful throughout their entire college course, and the wonderful record of school spirit of scholastic achievement, of successful enterprises they have left behind.

The Senior Class has produced a wonderful year Book, The Lauretanum, although still in its infancy, is entirely worthy of being a college annual. The book shows the ability of the Seniors in taking complete charge of and "putting over" an unusually successful Year Book. The Ioretine as well, has improved and become a more splendid literary magazine under the direction of the Seniors. The literary contributions, the essays, the stories, the articles and the poems, all show the talent of Webster College materialized. It is, like the Lauretanum a real college publication.

The Senior Class of '25 will be sorely missed by everyone, but the Seniors of '26 we know, will carry on successfully the work which their predecessors are leaving.

Here's to the Health, the Wealth, the Happiness, and the LUCK of the Class of '25.

---W---

Freshman Dance

The Freshman Dance at Algonquin Country Club, Friday night, May 8th was one of the best dances of the year.

Although the weather conditions were not all that could be desired they did not in any way hinder the attendance. The Freshman

Examinations

You may ask why all the serious, worried looks on the Webster College students this week. You can see them contented to remain in their rooms with only their text books for companions. And you will see every alert and eager for knowledge in her classes this week. The "why" of all this is answered by the notices on all the bulletin boards. Monday, May 25th the Final Examinations at Webster College will begin and continue throughout the week.

Seniors, poor things, we sympathize with you. The last final exam you will ever witness as a Webster College scholar.

Juniors and Sophomores you know all the details of this dreadful week.

But Freshies! This is your first College final. We wish you all the best of luck and that you will give the brightest of answers.

---W---

Commencement Week

Commencement Week at Webster College, Webster Groves, Missouri, will take place the week of June 1st closing on Wednesday afternoon, June 3rd with the conferring of degrees on the graduates by His Grace, Archbishop Glennon.

The program is as follows:

Monday June 1 --- 9:30 A. M.
Solemn Mass

Baccalaureate Sermon
Dramatic Art Class Play - 8:00 P.M.

Tuesday June 2
Alumnae Day --- 3:00 P. M.

Wednesday June 3 -- 5:00 P. M.
Address to Graduates
Conferring of Degrees
Solemn Benediction

---W---

are to be congratulated on the success of this dance.

Editorial Staff

City Editor V. Stephens
 Sport Editor Nan Shallcross
 News Editor Carrie Dxiatsko
 Circulation Mgr. Lillin O'Connor

Reporters

The Journalism Class

Editorial Column

THE WEB

We have tried to make the last issue of "the Web" a paper teeming with pep and news. This record of the interesting and pleasurable activities which are appropriate to the successful closing of the school year is intended as a gripping handshake to each and every student who is bidding the Sisters and Webster College farewell for the summer.

The guest who has been hospitably and profitably entertained departs lingeringly, and goes forth to proclaim the admirable and excellent traits of her hostess. So the students, who have spent a most progressive and eventful year at Webster College must go forth to tell their friends of the innumerable advantages Webster College affords.

In looking over "The Web" file we are forcefully and enthusiastically reminded of the outstanding features of our school year: Freshman initiation and the necessary green ribbons and hair behind the ears; Fall Day Picnic and the last outdoor swim of the year; Sophomore Hallowe'en party with its pageantry of vivid costumes; Parliamentary Law classes and the excellent response of the Webster students; College Dramatics; Mission Entertainment; Basketball games; The Formation of Swimming and Millinery Classes; Fall Dance; Christmas Party; Lectures by C. E. W. Griffith, F. Paulding, Misses Catherine Heanessy, Catherine Daly of the St. Louis Star, Marian Denyvan of the Globe-Democrat and Dr. James Walsh; Girl Scout course with its knotty problems and competitive tests; the biggest social affair of the year--Our Prom at the Woman's Club of St. Louis; Webster College admitted to North Central Association; Opportunities to hear and see the Chicago Civic Opera Company; and many others. Could any one year, any where, be more educational, more advantageous, or more socially gay?

To Miss Johnson

"Girls, please pay attention and do not talk so much." Chattering and giggling, seem synonymous with girls, so that is our one and only alibi for our excessive talking and merriment during classes and in too, that most interesting one of journalistic writing. We did want to obey our teacher and learn to be splendid reporters but our spirits just won't permit us to act like ordinary, sane individuals.

Miss Johnson, our guiding light and model has the patience of Job and the wisdom of Solomon. I fancy were some of us in her shoes we would have given up long ago, not so with Miss Johnson; she continues and makes us all feel that she has the most wonderful and the cleverest class in Webster College. Our studies in Journalism become more interesting each day and we feel now that we know a great deal more about the newspaper and its field than when we first sat in 17 B in September. Hurra and three cheers for Miss Johnson and may she be ever with us.

---W---

During the summer months there will be many opportunities to talk with girls who are interested in College. Tell them about Webster College; its professors, its dramatics, its athletics, its social activities, its fun and frolics. Tell them that the eyes of the educational world are being focused on Webster College because of its unparalleled strides forward towards success.

In interesting other people in Webster we are boosting both the College by bringing it to the attention of possible students, and boosting ourselves by proclaiming the supreme first-class standard of the College we attend.

Here's to a record breaking registration in September. Let's go!

---W---

Suggestions for Jinny Stephens

That you return the Madeira Napkin to H. S.
 That you auction your stag bids for tea.
 That you look up Carl Kaiser's relatives. That you have H. Simon rug renovated. etc. etc.

Head of Physical Education
Department of Missouri
Speaks to Students

Dr. Charles Curtis, head of the Department of Physical Education at Missouri University spoke to the assembled Faculty and students of Webster College Monday May 18th on this having been presented by Reverend F. V. Corcoran C. M. in a few words of address.

Dr. Curtis' ambition is to stimulate interest and broaden the development of Physical Education in all the schools and colleges throughout this state and it was in this behalf that he spoke. He strongly advocated the necessity of athletic training for the college girl especially: "since health is the most important and beneficial factor in the life of a woman." by this training she acquires grace, endurance, spontaneity and development of character that she could get from no other source.

In England where Dr. Curtis had some experience in training "all schools", he said: "take the necessity of such health exercises as a mere matter of course; some considering it of equal importance with Latin." All students are trained for at least three things, there cricket tennis, soccer or football. Even the old men play the game there and great attention is given to playground courses.

It is just such an interest as this that Dr. Curtis is striving to arouse in this country, and it is to this effect that the University of Missouri has agreed to award letters and medals to anyone in the state who can merit 1000 points by successfully passing all the tests for good health and sportsmanship; and by making for himself certain records along lines of self-development.

Dr. Curtis concluded by saying that this year there were 500 applicants for letters and that the number each year steadily increased. He said he hoped by next year Webster College would be among the number.

---W---

He--"Do gooseberries have legs?"
She--"No."
He--"Then I must have swallowed & caterpillar."

Juniors Give Hay-Ride
for Senior Class

The Juniors showed the Seniors a genuine good-time on a hay-ride Wednesday May 20th. A large truck was secured and covered with hay in the bottom. They intended to go swimming but the weather was rather spiteful, so they were unable to do so.. Food that so necessary accessory, to a good time, was much in evidence but it was the intention to destroy all such evidence before the end of the "feed".

About one o'clock they started back. Mrs. Howery chaperoned.

---W---

Election for New Lauretanum
Staff held by Juniors

The election for the year-book staff of next year was held Monday, May 11th in the Dean's room. Genevieve Barthel was elected editor-in-chief; Mary Elizabeth Newell, advertising Manager and Adele Burkart, business manager. The portion of Associate editor was not decided upon because the class intends to give this to a Junior, thus enabling her to get some idea of the work before her Senior year.

The plans for next year's book are not definite but it is the intention to make it bigger and better. New views are going to be used and more pages denoted to each department. The advertising is going to be "gone after" and "gotten."

The book this year is a credit to the school and a big improvement over the previous year. But as the school grows so must the book so the class of '26 intends to give it another "boost."

---W---

Coming Events

Independence Day	July 4
Christmas	Dec. 25
New Year's	Jan. 1

---W---

Late to bed, and early to rise,
Keeps the dark circles under your eyes.

Helen Simon was arrested for going fifty miles in her ford.

Year Book Celebrates
Second Anniversary
at College

Volume two of the Lauretanum, the year-book of Webster College has been published and was distributed to the students and faculty, Tuesday May 5th. The book contains 96 pages and is leather bound with the name, year and seal of the College embossed on the front. The dedication is to Mother Mary Edith, President of Webster College, whose term expires this year. Portions of the book are devoted to several classes of the college, the Dramatic and Athletic Departments, the Organizations, Publications and Social Activities.

The staff of Volume Two is:
Editor-in-Chief Grace Cantwell
Business Manager Gladys O'Connor
Advertising Mgr Violet Barnicle
Treasurer Rosemary O'Connor

The Associate editors are:
Misses Helen Healy, Esther Moore
Lillian O'Connor, Genevieve Barthel
Adele Burkart, Mary Elizabeth
Newell, Dorothy Monarch, Margaret
Peters, Juanita Abell.

---W---

Alumnae Day Will Take Place
June 2 at Webster College

Alumnae Day, a permanent institution of Commencement Week at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., will take place June 2nd. The annual business meeting of the association, followed by a luncheon for the members of the Alumnae will be the special features of this day. At the luncheon, the graduating class will be received into the association.

---W---

Campus News

The following girls spent the week-end in St. Louis: Misses Juanita Abell, Rose Bindewald, Pearl Farrell, Margaret Peters, Florence Pitt Smith, Gretchen Fegers, Gene Corcoran and Jayne Ledwidge.

Misses Helen Mae Heisserer and Elizabeth Dauwalter were the guests of Miss Edythe Causley of Alton, Illinois, this weekend.

Miss Adele Burkart attended the Kentucky Derby.

Miss Edith Glosmeyer spent the week-end at her home at O'Fallon, Missouri.

Webster College Student
Organize Girl Scouts

Miss Ellen Casey, a Freshman at Webster College is the first of the girls who has made practical use of her course in Girl Scout Leadership.

Last Friday Evening May 15th she started the first troop of Girl Scouts connected with the Knights of Columbus. Troop No. 5 held its first meeting at the K. of C. Club House on Big Bend Road. Twenty girls assembled and immediately began working on their tenderfoot test.

Miss Rosemary O'Connor a senior at Webster College is captain of the troop, Miss Ellen Casey is First lieutenant and Miss Naomi Tanby is second lieutenant.

---W---

Junior Gives Dramatic Recital

Miss Lucinda Clements, of Ownsboro, Ky., and a pupil of Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., gave a Dramatic Recital Sunday, May 17, in the College Auditorium. The program was both humorous and dramatic. It included a story, musical readings and a monologue of negro dialect.

Miss Clements is a Junior and is specializing in dramatic art. Her program was as follows:

The Old Timers Pay their Debt
Christine Parmenter
The Wedding Walter Ben Hare
Piano Solo Miss Lucille Roof
Bruchwood--Musical Recitation
Buchanan Read

Musical Readings--

"It Takes" Phyllis Fergus
"If" Helen Rowland

---W---

Visitor--"Your husband must be a man of rare gifts."
Wife--"Very rare, we've been married five years now and he hasn't made me a present yet."

Rose--"Hey, Boz, why don't you brush your shoes once in awhile?"
Binks--"There aint no hair on my Shoes."

Jinny Stephens is so dumb she thinks a base ball fan is a cooling device.

We have a man-hater at school
-----I hate you.

Music Notes

The Faculty of Loretto Conservatory presented Miss Lucienne Iberger, pianist assisted by Miss Margaret Tiernon, soprano and Miss Dorothy Monarch, accompanist in a Recital Wednesday Evening, April 29th in the College Auditorium.

Miss Iberger's technique and interpretation was brilliant throughout the entire program and her rendition of the difficult masters was creditable.

Miss Tiernon's clear soprano was well suited to the colorful Indian love lyrics. She delighted her audience with her selections.

The WEB wishes to extend congratulations to the young artists.

The Students of the Loretto Conservatory broadcasted an especially arranged program from Station K. S. D. St. Louis Post Dispatch, on Monday Night, May 11.

The soloists of the evening were Misses Grace Cantwell, Lillian O'Connor, Lucienne Iberger, Margaret Tiernon, Dorothy Ann McBride, Lucille Roof, and Dorothy Monarch.

Telegrams and messages of congratulations have been received from friends and "listeners in" from all over the country.

The Annual Closing of the Loretto Conservatory of Music took place on Monday afternoon May 18, in the Webster College Auditorium.

The entire program was rendered with excellent skill and exquisite interpretation.

---W---

Announcement

Bus of the St. Louis County line has changed its route. Signs indicate where passengers will be deposited and taken on. The main and only change in the route has been on Lockwood Avenue, the bus runs east on Lockwood to Plymouth where it turns up the college drive and by some device or other arrives at the Third floor of the college, stops at Room 331 and makes its journey down again to Lockwood. For farther particulars see, Vidy Dot, and Jinny.

---W---

The girl who spends most of her time in the Registrar's Room.

The program was as follows:

Rhapsodis, F. Sharp Minor
Ernst von Dohnanyi
Miss Dorothy Monarch

Cradle Song Kreisler
Miss Margaret Tiernon
Miss Lucienne Iberger, Accompanist

Hungarian Rhapsodie, No.10
Franz Liszt
Miss Lucienne Iberger.

Recitative and Aria, Jeanne d'Arc
Tschaiikowsky
"Adieu, forets"
Miss Lillian O'Connor
Miss Grace Cantwell Accompanist

Concerto, A Minor Hummel
Miss Grace Cantwell
Orchestral part played on second piano by Miss Margeret Tiernon

Choral on Music's Wing
Mendelssohn
Vocal Class
Miss Dorothy Monarch Accompanist

Concluding the Musical Numbers Rev. Joseph, P. Donovan awarded the Degrees, Senior Diplomes and Teachers Certificates and the Rev. Russel Ignatius Wilbur addressed the young artists of the afternoon and the audience.

The Degree of Bachelor of Music was conferred upon Misses Cantwell and O'Connor.

---W---

Who's Who

The Girl whom Sr. Borgia Loves
The Girl who always takes the pretty parts.

The Girl who objects to having an accompanist while reading.

The Girl who says she lacks stamina

The girl who is our song bird
The girl who couldn't wait for the Freshman dance. Why?

The girl who is prepared for exams.

The girl who knows logic
The girl with the rosebud lips
The girl who can hear what she is talking about in the Dining Room.

The girl on the second floor who makes "sort of a belching noise"
The girl who is always to be the best.

Banquet Held Monday Night

The annual, progressive stag banquet of Webster College was held Monday Night May 18, at Mrs. Higgins Restaurant in Old Orchard.

The toast mistress was Miss Dorothy Venewitz. Toasts were also made by Misses Elizabeth Barnicle and Virginia Stephens.

The menu consisted of three ham sandwiches, four potato salads one cucumber salad, drinks, coffee, tea, milk, and water.

Miss Venewitz's order was delayed due to the incapability of the waitress. After the first course the party advanced to the New Drug Store where Chili and Ice Cream was enjoyed.

After two hours of feasting the banquet was broken up by target practice. A good time was had by all.

---W---

Sophomore Students give Vaudeville at St. Charles.

The Sophomore Vaudeville, presented at St. Charles, Mo., May 11, for the benefit of Father McNamara's parish undoubtedly was a huge success and proved that the outside world is learning to appreciate Webster College talent. The Cast left School in a chartered bus at six o'clock and arrived at its destination a long time later. Pleasantly surprised by an overwhelming and enthusiastic audience, the girls gave their best and were awarded by lasting ovations. They returned to Webster about twelve o'clock, the successful players of whom we are all so proud. Father reports clear returns amounting to over two hundred and fifty dollars and the citizens of St. Charles, as well as all Websterites await, eagerly, another such performance.

---W---

She--"You poor fish, don't fold your napkin in a cafe."
He--"I gotta, to get it in my pocket."

A Senior coming to a hard question on her examination paper, wrote for her answer: "God only knows--I don't."
The paper came back with the following correction in the Prof's handwriting: "God gets the credit--you don't"

Shakespearean Play to be Presented at Webster College

"Comedy of Errors" by William Shakespeare will be presented Monday Night June 1, at 8:00 P. M., in the College auditorium, under the direction of Mrs. Anna McClain Senkey.

The play is woven around two sets of twins who are continuously being mistaken one for the other. The twins are played by Misses Genevieve Barthel Theresa Shea, Virginia Stephen, and Mary Elizabeth Nowell. Others in the cast are: Misses Ervilia Hix, Rosemary O'Connor, Lucinda Clemons, Lillian O'Connor, Abele Burkart, La Verne Bopp, Louise Murphy, Violet Barnicle, Margaret Mowery, Elizabeth Dauwalter, Margaret Barthel, Catherine Kay, Edith Glosmeyer, and Rosalid Seifert.

Catholic Students Mission Crusade Pageant

The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade presented "The Ritual of Initiation" by Daniel A. Lord, S. J. at the Municipal Theatre, Forest Park, on Thursday afternoon May 21, under the direction of Gerald B. Donnelly, S. J.

The principal characters were:

Suzerain	James W. McGill
Religion	Adeline Grone
Grand Inquisiter	Charles A. Neumann
Major Domo	Warren Carroll
St. Joan of Arc	Margaret Reddin
St. Louis of France	Jerry Kane
Peter the Hermit	Raymond Krings
Pagan Mother	Irene Powell

Norinx Hall School girls took the part of "Noble Lords". Those of principal interest to Webster College were the Four Soneschals, Dan Sullivan, Mark Halleran, Spaulding Kennedy, and Charles Reis.

---W---

Teacher--"Have you ever been through Algebra?"
New Student--"Yes; but it was in the night, and I didn't see much of the place."